In Brief

Earthquake

The tremor whose heart was in Kentucky but extended its extremities to Belleville and Romulus had little effect on the area. But it did shock and shake some residents, according to Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

"We felt the earthquake," said a spokesman for the department, "and it caught most of us by surprise. However, we didn't receive any reports of injuries or damage due to the quake."

It was the first time in recent years that Michigan had sustained a tremor. Fans at the Detroit Tiger ball game Sunday said they "knew something had happened," but didn't have an explanation until the radio had announced that "the shakes were from an earthquake."

Storm aid

The storm that roared through the area two weeks ago also knocked off a branch of the Social Security Office at 27407 Michigan Ave.

Officials say that they hope to be back in operation soon, however, during the interim they are asking those who use the facility to utilize the branch office located on Outer Drive, just north of Michigan Ave., in the Harrison Building. Repairs are being made.

"The most optimistic projection right now for repairs on the branch office is that we could be back in operations by next week," said Bob Long, branch manager. "However, we just don't know."

The Social Security Department handles all applications and complaints dealing with retirement, survivor's claims, disability claims, Medicare and supplemental social security.

For further information, please telephone 493-1111.

Residents in Belleville, Romulus, New Boston, Wayne and Westland are served by the Michigan Ave. branch.

CETA jobs

Some 109 youngsters from Belleville, Romulus and the Wayne-Westland area beat the recent freeze on hiring under the Federal Government's CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) summer program.

All of those employed come from homes with below standard incomes or are handicapped.

Weatherized

The Wayne County Office on Aging starts its second year weatherizing homes in Western Wayne County.

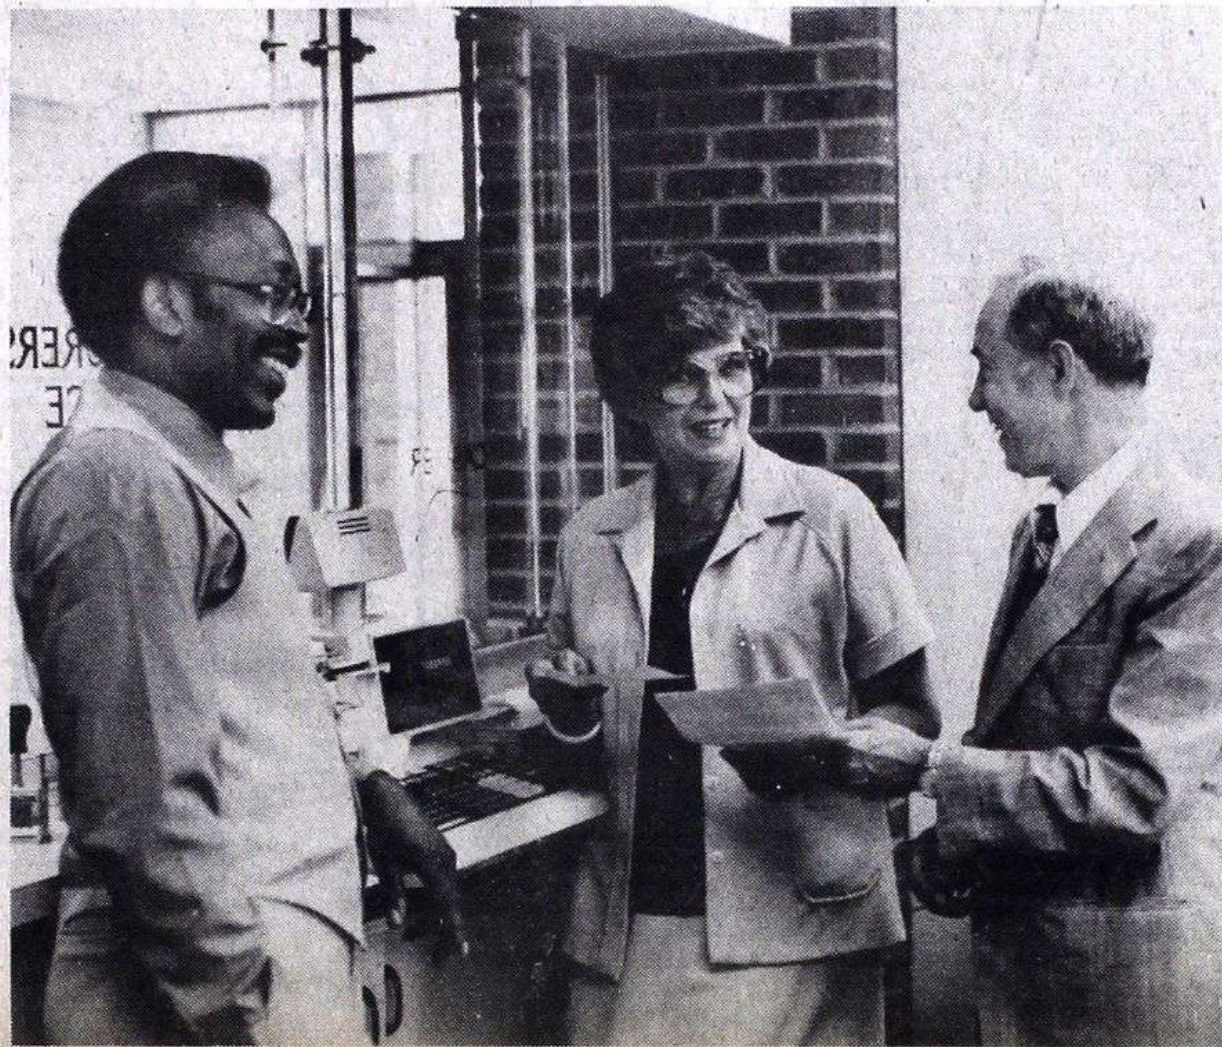

The Bureau of Community Services had awarded W.C.O.A. a contract for Region I which covers Van Buren, Sumpter, Huron and Canton.

The contract enables W.C.O.A. to weatherize homes of senior citizens and other low income homeowners in the region that meet the income guidelines.

The department of energy has performed studies on the effectiveness of the work performed in the Weatherization program and had found that it reduces heat loss from a home up to 30 percent, thereby, reducing the amount of fuel used to heat the home.

Any resident interested in this free service should call 326-9402.

Voters to decide fate of Wayne County reform

Early 'bird' pays taxes

Western 5 undecided

Cable TV remains issue

Cable television continues to stay in the public limelight for area residents.

The Western Five Community Conference board voted last week to hold two more public hearings in its efforts to decide which of three competing cable TV companies should build a system for its five member communities.

Western Five represents the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron and the cities of Belleville and Romulus.

The board set hearing dates for Sept. 6 in the Van Buren Township Hall and Sept. 13 in the Romulus City Hall. Both hearings are scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

The board urged that all members of the township boards and city councils of its five member communities, along with interested members of the general public, attend both hearings.

Last month, a similar hearing was held in Romulus during which presentations were made by the three cable TV firms which submitted proposals to Western Five for one system to serve all five communities.

They are: Comcast of Bala-Cynwyd, Pa.; United Cable of Englewood, Colo.; and Omnicom of Plymouth, Mich.

Omnicom later made a request to appear before the Romulus City Council to make a presentation with the hope of securing a franchise for that community alone.

Notified of Omnicom's action, Comcast and United asked and were okayed for presentations at the same session. Three other cable TV firms also appeared and made presentations at the public meeting — Bell Broadcasting of Romulus, Metrovision of Troy, and Wayne Cable of Taylor.

That particular meeting came only hours after the Western Five board voted 4-1 to recommend Omnicom as the company to build a system for the five community area. The recommendation is not binding on the boards and councils.

Since then Sumpter Supt. Robert K. Demski has asked Chairman Pat Cullin, supervisor of Van Buren, to hold a special meeting to reconsider the vote. He was not present when the recommending vote was taken and his sit-in, Shirley Sulkey, his secretary, voted for Omnicom.

Demski said he did not favor the Plymouth firm and wanted an opportunity to record his vote for another company. The earliest time for a special Western Five meeting turned out to be its regular monthly meeting last week (Thursday).

However, Demski did not ask for a reconsideration and the board decided to hold two more public hearings in an effort to clarify what has become a long and drawn-out process of selecting a firm to build a cable TV system for the five community area.

The fate of Wayne County governmental organization hangs in the balance, as Romulus voters join others throughout the County for this Tuesday's primary election.

The election, which serves as a winnowing process to eliminate candidates before the general election in November, will narrow the field for several Federal, State and County posts along party lines. However, it contains only one proposal, and that is the so-called County Home Rule, Proposal A.

That proposal asks the voter to decide if a charter commission, for the purpose of framing and submitting to the electorate a county home rule charter, be established. Charter commission candidates are duly listed on the ballot should the proposal pass.

The proposal has sparked considerable controversy, in that the organization and apportionment of county commissioners will be based on 1970 census figures. County commissioners, representing districts in Detroit, currently hold a majority of the present seats on the Commission, and want things to stay that way.

Western Wayne County communities, have increased in population since 1970, which when based on the one-man, one-vote premise, would give control of County government to those suburban districts where the majority of the people live.

The conflict comes in the timing of the ballot proposal. Since county government apportionment can only be decided every ten years, opponents of Proposal A, which includes several Western Wayne County communities, say the reapportionment should be based on 1980 census figures which will be available next year. These figures, they say, will more accurately reflect the dispersal of population in the County, and therefore place the government of the County in the hands of Commissioners representing the majority of people. Without those figures, Detroit representatives will maintain control of County government for at least next ten years, a possibility Western Wayne County leaders find totally unacceptable.

Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara and Allen Park Mayor Frank Lada are spearheading a drive against Proposal A under the banner of "Wayne County Communities for Equal Representation." They have taken the matter to court in an attempt to eliminate the proposal from this year's ballot. They lost their case on the circuit level and are currently appealing the ruling to the Michigan Supreme Court.

The high court is apparently waiting for the outcome of Tuesday's election before issuing a decision.

In those elections of particular interest to Romulus residents, eight-term U.S. Congressman William D. Ford is running unopposed on the Democratic side and is being challenged by two Republicans, Gerald R. Carlson, and James A. Cagill.

Huron to borrow $646,682

The Huron Board of Education authorized the borrowing of $646,682 against state aid for the 1980-81 school year, according to a statement by that district's superintendent's office.

Because of a cash flow at the beginning of a new fiscal year, many school districts need to borrow money until the local taxes are collected and given to the school sometime after the first of the year. Last year, Huron borrowed $1,220,895, the statement said.

In other action, Ann Adams, counselor at the high school, resigned to take a position with another school district. The Board accepted her resignation with regrets.

This September will be the first time the school district will have continuity in their reading program from grades kindergarten through the fifth grade. The Board approved the purchase of the Houghton Mifflin Reading Series at a cost of $10,504.01.

The Fall 1980 coaching staff has been completed with the approval of Paul Teague as Head Girls Cross Country Coach. Doris LaBeau was also approved as the Fall Cheerleading Coach.

In other action, the Board voted to again join the MASA for the school year 1980-81, and to change the liability policy for board members to the MASA sponsored insurance company.

The Board also voted to rescind the motion of June 16 that the school district put all monies received from the leasing of the school owned acreage on Sibley Road into the Carl T. Renton Scholarship Fund for the length of the lease. An opinion from the school attorney advised the board that it was illegal to use money from the general fund for scholarship.

Due to the severe storm Wednesday, the power at the Wayne County Intermediate School District was knocked out and the bills for payment were not printed. Bill's payable will be approved at the next special meeting.

Superintendent Curtis D. Bartz informed the board that a second meeting with a state mediator has been scheduled on Wednesday, August 20th. The district has met twenty-four times with the teacher's bargaining group since July, 1979. The teachers have been working under an extended contract.

Group gets whiff of compost plant

Detroit trip results: Mixed feelings

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A group of Romulus citizens, councilmen and members of the planning commission got a whiff at what to expect if a proposed $13.7 million fertilizer plant is built in Romulus.

The group came away from Beltsville, Maryland, site of a United States Agricultural and Environmental experimental plant with mixed emotions. The plan in Beltsville manufactures compost from sewage sludge.

Detroit Recovery products, Inc., who financed the trip to Maryland, has indicated it would like to build a plant in Romulus if it can get the necessary approvals from local, county, state and federal authorities.

"The plant will be privately financed," said Ken Pierceall, president of Detroit Recovery. "All of this is based on contracts with the Detroit Water Board, which serves Romulus and some 72 other communities.

"I feel our plans to build here will benefit all of those concerned," Pierceall said.

Detroit representatives appeared before Council recently to present its plan to build a recovery treatment plant on a 128-acre site west of the C & D Railroad and south of Ecorse Road. A part of the land is presently occupied by Mendrek's Commercial Dump.

Two councilmen — Jimmie Raspberry and Ray Cantrell — voiced their objections to the Detroit project and, although invited to make the Beltsville trip, refused to go, according to Detroit officials.

"We wanted the citizens to make this trip so that they would know what to expect," said Eleanor Catron, Detroit's attorney. "We don't believe in hiding anything from the residents or city officials."

In Beltsville, the local group listened to a lecture by George B. Wilson, agricultural engineer, sludge composting research for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Wilson pointed out that "one of the most urgent problems confronting many municipalities today is that of disposing of their sewage sludges in a manner that is environmentally acceptable, economically feasible, and not hazardous to human health."

In a scientific paper that he had co-authored, Wilson stated, "that ... the Beltsville Aerated Pile Method for composting sewage sludges which largely overcomes the problems associated with land application of sludges ... transforms either raw or digested sludge into compost in about three weeks."

"The Beltsville method incorporates the use of undigested sludge mixed with woodchips as a bulking material," he said.

Pierceall and his group hopes to duplicate the process in Romulus.

The report also stated "that odors can be a major problem in land application of sludges." Avoidance of odors requires immediate incorporation of sludge into the soil. Sites for sludge spreading must be selected with respect to population density, air drainage, and the prevailing wind direction."

The group was bussed to the plant site where they viewed the sludge-to-fertilizer process.

Councilman Ed Rush asked Wilson if residents complained about the site or if rodents were attracted to the material. Wilson replied: "We do not get any complaints from residents and, for some reason, with the exceptions of maybe the racoon, rodents are not attracted to the sludge. They (the rodents) don't consider it a food source."

Ed Swearingen, a bus driver, who lives in the fertilizer plant's immediate vicinity, said "that he didn't even know the plant existed. I drive back and forth here every day, and I didn't know about this place." (The plant site is hidden from the main thoroughfares by shubbery and trees.)

However, many of the people who took the trip had mixed reviews about the plant, namely, the odor it generated.

Joan Marvicsin, school board treasurer, said that "because we allow the operation to exist in our city, there should be a thorough examination of all facets. I personally have concerns about the processing of sludge, namely, the odor."

"The proposed site in Romulus is close to the schools and, again, I would have great concerns about approving this venture of theirs."

Gary Bingham, president of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce, said he had no problem with the over-all picture.

"The only concern I have at Pearl M. Morris home to be named historical site

A Romulus house will be officially recognized as a Michigan Historic Site on Sunday afternoon, August 10, 1980, at a 2:00 P.M. ceremony, when a historic marker will be unveiled on the lawn at the home of Pearl M. Morris, 13880 Huron River Drive South, Romulus.

The Merrill-Morris House is of Greek Revival architecture. Large walnut beams hewn with an adz, support the wood structure. Small frieze windows with wooden grilles decorate the facade. The original structure (excluding additions) is symmetrical, a definite characteristic of Greek Revival houses. This type of architecture was popular in the early eighteenth hundreds. In July of 1833, David Warner, a resident of New York state, purchased from the United States government the parcel of land on which the Merrill-Morris House was later built. Ownership of the land passed through several owners until May 27, 1845 when it was sold to Harvey W. Merrill of New York state. Merrill appears on the census records as residing in Romulus at that time and, with this fact in mind, it appears that Harvey W. Merrill had the Merrill-Morris house built in about 1846. Extensive research has been done in the old township assessor's rolls to establish the presence of a structure on the property at that time. In the 1876 illustrated Historical Atlas of the County of Wayne Michigan, an artist's drawing of this house appears on page 37. It is listed as the residence of H.W. Merrill. The atlas also describes Mr. Merrill as a farmer who came to the county in 1845. In the year 1888, a George H. Mason is shown to have purchased the property. The next owner was a Thomas Kingston, who paid taxes on the property until 1906. On June 24, 1907 Porter and Elizabeth Grow purchased the house and property. Their daughter, Shirley Amanda Grow, and Lewis Richard Tandy were married in the front parlor of the Merrill-Morris House on October 28, 1908. Other earlier weddings may have been performed in the house, but this is the first known. Annie Morris purchased this house and property on October 7, 1912. Soon after it was sold to Ray V. Morris, eldest son of Hiram and Annie Morris. He was to farm this property, and another 40 acres he purchased, for 30 years until his untimely death in 1942, as a result of injuries suffered in a fall from a load of hay. In the year 1913, Ray V. Morris had the summer kitchen removed and two cement porches, featuring round pillars, added to the

Cong. WILLIAM FORD

Cong. Bill Ford's birthday picnic scheduled for Aug. 2

A 16-year tradition will continue this year when friends and supporters of Congressman William D. Ford gather on August 2 to help the popular 15th-District congressman celebrate his birthday. Upwards of 7,000 persons assemble each year for an "old-fashioned, country-style picnic" with corn on the cob, hot dogs, Polish sausage, popcorn, beer and soft drinks.

Harry Brunner, of Dearborn Heights, is once again chairman of the Committee which is planning the event. "It will be held again this year in New Liberty Park, Huron Township," Brunner said. "We expect it to be the biggest and best ever." For an admission charge of only $10 per car (up to seven persons), the picnicers will be treated to a full afternoon of eating, drinking, music, dancing and politicking, with games and contests for all ages and sexes. Once inside the park, there are no charges. The bulk of the expenses are covered by income from advertisements in a program book. The picnic officially begins at noon, but many families who make the affair an annual event arrive even earlier to claim their favorite picnic site in the park's tree-shaded groves. A huge parking lot offers ample room for all comers.

Brunner suggested that families planning to attend should bring folding tables and chairs, or picnic blankets, since the park's supply of picnic tables and benches is exhausted early in the afternoon. Held just three days before the August 5 primary election, the picnic traditionally draws many local and state politicians, who are delighted with the opportunity to mix with thousands of voters. Brunner's committee, however, strictly enforces a long-standing ban on any political posters except those of Congressman Ford's first term in Washington.

"We thought it would be an ideal way to help our Congressman celebrate his birthday," Brunner said. "It was such a success we decided to make it an annual event." As the crowds grew each year, the Committee expanded to meet the increasing work load. This year, several hundred persons are working to make the picnic a success.

Congressman Ford considers the picnic a highlight of his year. He spends the day strolling through the park, chatting, shaking hands with old and new friends and enjoying the relaxed atmosphere.

New Liberty Park is located on Bredow Road, between Inkster and Middlebelt Roads.

Rotary Gov. Clark will pay Romulus members a visit

Governor David C. Clark, leader of Rotary International District 640, will make his official visit to the Romulus Rotary Club at 6:15 p.m. on Wednesday, August 6, it is reported by Gordon Silvey, 1980-81 President of the Club.

The local Club is one of 47 in district 640, (Wayne, Monroe, Lenawee counties in Michigan and Essex County, Ontario). There are more than 2500 Rotarians in these 47 clubs.

Rotary International was founded more than 75 years ago in Chicago by Paul Harris and three business friends who recognized the need for an organization to help promote the concept of service to others, better ethical values in business, and friendship and fellowship among business and professional people. There are now more than 800,000 Rotarians throughout the free world.

Gov. Clark joined Detroit Rotary in 1962 and was club president in 1974-75. Born in Florida, he attended Principia College in Elmhurst, Illinois where he received a degree in Economics in 1950. He served in the United States Army and earned his First Lieutenant bars as a paratrooper who made nearly 50 jumps during the military career.

Immediately after graduation, he joined Jervis B. Webb Company, the world's largest manufacturer of engineered material handling equipment. Currently, he is Vice President/Treasurer of the firm. His civic record includes director of the Employers Association, and of the Metropolitan Y.M.C.A. He is president of the Boys' Club of Metropolitan Detroit and will shortly be elevated to presidency of the Detroit Athletic Club.

Homes are needed for exchange pupils

Homes are needed in the Belleville area for two international students arriving in the first two weeks of August.

Kristine is an eighteen-year-old Norwegian girl who enjoys swimming, volleyball, horseback riding, jogging, reading and plays piano for enjoyment.

She has a 16 year old brother and a 13 year old sister in Norway.

She is very open and pleasant but afraid of birds and cats. Christian is a seventeen year old boy from Germany who likes soccer, reading, skiing, drawing, and horseback riding.

He is very sports oriented and wants a career someday in hotel management. He does smoke.

Christian is Catholic and Kristine is Protestant and both are willing to attend church. Both would be high school students.

If you are interested in opening your hearts and homes to either Kristine or Christian, teaching them about the USA while you learn about their countries, please call Mrs. Debbie Elmore at 313-697-8231.

Little League grid registration

Little League Cougar football registration for Belleville and Van Buren Township boys 9-13 years of age will be held at 5 p.m. Friday, Aug. 8 at the office of Dr. Jack Barden, 9878 Belleville Rd.

Football practice for Cougars will begin at 5 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 11, at Belleville High School. Fee for players is $35 each.

present is the water drain off," Bingaman said. "The way I understand it the water will directly flow back into the sewage system so we won't have any problem we see here."

"The only major problem I see here is the odor. And they say that the facility they will be building in Romulus will be bigger."

Hyle Carmichael, city industrial coordinator, said he found nothing wrong with the operation. "As far as they (Detroit) comply with all of the governmental regulations, it's all right with me. A lot of our sewage is going to Detroit, so we're helping to create the problem. Every community will sooner or later have to be faced with this problem. I feel we should attack it now."

Councilman Fred Junior Block didn't feel that the odor was offensive.

"I grew up on a farm, and there's nothing wrong. I think this project will benefit the city financially and it will put people to work as well as provide fertilizer. I can't see anything wrong with it."

Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks disagreed.

"The site here in Maryland is an isolated one," Mrs. Banks said, "however, in Romulus we have a residential area. Also, the Maryland site is suitable in size in operation and is much smaller to that one proposed in Romulus. I definitely have some reservations about all of this."

"I am also worried about the future and environmental impact that it may create," she continued. "It's still experimental. Are we creating another Love Canal situation?"

Shirley Lombardi, a school board member, felt "it could be the best or the worst thing for Romulus."

"I'm not opposed to it, but I'm also very glad I'm not the person who has to make the final decision," Mrs. Lombardi said. "I feel we have an obligation to future generations to investigate every facet of this thing — the impact on the environment."

"This company has no existing plant — it is a new venture for them. I feel we are too naive about the treatment of sludge, therefore, I'm going to recommend we move very carefully on this."

Rush said that he hadn't seen Detroit's site plan, "therefore, I want to wait until the Planning Commission comes up with their recommendations. I made this trip in order to gather all the information I could so that when we had public hearings on this I would have some answers."

"Also, I am not going to prejudge this project before going through the entire process — Planning Commission — Council — and public hearings. Right now it's just too premature and let's wait until we get some EIS (Environmental Impact Studies), Rush said."

Caygill is a law enforcement officer in Woodhaven and Carlson, who represents the National Christian Democratic Union recently came to public attention for issuing taped telephone messages allegedly containing racial slurs.

At the State level, incumbent Democrat Edward E. Mahalak, representing the 38th district, is running unopposed against Republicans Roy Raker, supervisor of Huron Township and Theodore William Jacques, a young Romulus resident who is appealing to the working man in his campaign literature.

Those Romulus residents living in the 22nd legislative district will again be represented by Gary M. Owen who is running unopposed by either party.

A full slate of County positions is also on the ballot, including Prosecuting Attorney, Sheriff, Clerk, Treasurer, Drain Commissioner and Auditor.

Edgar L. Harris, veteran County Commissioner representing Romulus in the 26th district is facing a Democratic challenge this year from Ted Anders, Mayor of Flat Rock.

Although the County reorganization issue is very important to the future of the county, Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar predicts a light voter turnout for the election.

"Probably only 10 per cent of our registered voters will vote this Tuesday," Folmar said.

He attributed this to voter apathy, summer vacations and the state of the economy. However, he urged all registered voters to exercise their franchise and come to the polls between the hours of 7 a.m. and 8 p.m.

In 26th district

Flat Rock Mayor Anders wants to be commissioner

Use of the 1980 census to reorganize Wayne County government is advocated by Ted L. Anders, mayor of Flat Rock, in his bid for the Democrat nomination for Wayne County commissioner from the 26th District in the Aug. 5 primary election.

The 26th District covers Romulus, Huron Township, part of Taylor, Rockwood and Flat Rock.

Retired from the Stearns Mfg. co. of Flat Rock, Anders is now serving his third term as mayor. He also served two years as a city council member.

Anders said use of the 1980 census will make changes in county government "fair and equitable, based on the one man, one vote rule."

He favors getting county financial matters in order and running county government as a business "with good business sense". He also supports responsiveness to all citizens, not just special interest groups, and maintenance of communications with officials of other communities.

"My present involvement in local government in the downriver area gives me an unusually good knowledge of the needs and concerns of the people at the local level," said Anders.

He added that his service as past vice chairman of the Downriver Community Conference and the Downriver Mutual Aid Committee has given him "a firm understanding of the needs of the communities in the downriver area."

Anders was born in Detroit and lived there for 28 years before moving to Flat Rock and residing there for 27 years.

The father of one child, Anders is a member of the Elks Club and American Legion and has a life membership in the Flat Rock Historical Society.

During World War II, he served with the 11th Airborne Division in the Pacific Theater as a paratrooper.

Mayor issues storm message

I would like to personally commend every citizen of our community for their overwhelming display of civic pride. In an effort to minimize the inconvenience of the recent storm, the City has taken the following actions which you should be aware of:

1) Established a dump site on Shook Road between Wick and McBride;

2) Ordered all maintenance crews into the street to assist in the clean-up and;

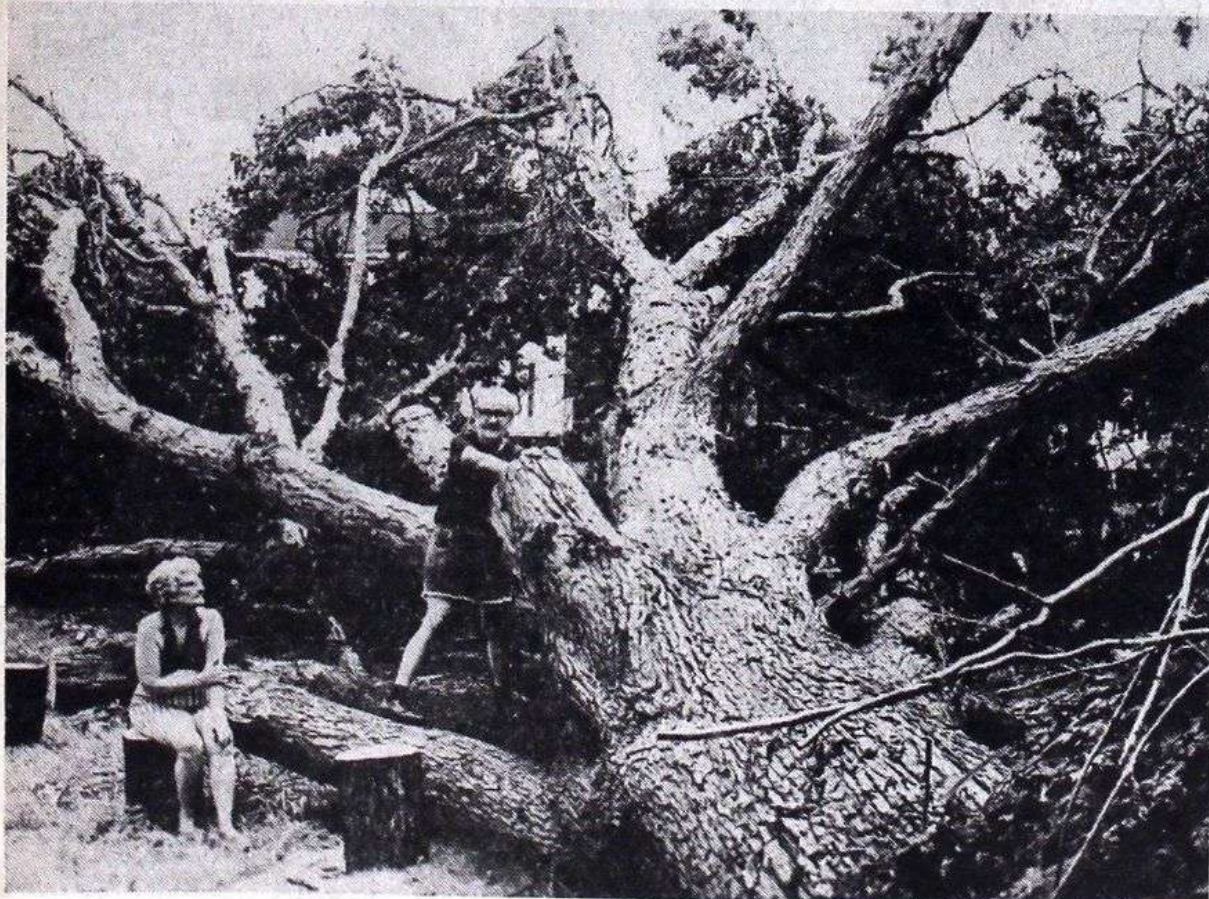

3) Assign personnel to the specific task of 'situation resolution'.

Should any storm related situation arise, for which you need help and/or assistance, call City Hall and ask for extension 216. There will be people available to assist during this difficult time.

Branches and rubble from the storm, for which you have no means to transport to the Shook Road Dump Site, should be placed at the curb. The City will pick these items up; however, we ask that you bare with us.

William M. Oakley, Mayor
City of Romulus

Even the oldest tree isn't spared

Last Wednesday's vicious thunderstorm destroyed a bit of history in the city of Wayne. Helen Weger and her brother Charles English can only look forlornly as one of the community's oldest trees shows the signs of its losing battle with Mother Nature. Officials estimate that it will take nearly a month to clear up all the limbs and debris left by the storm.

Unusual! They paid taxes early

City Treasurer Beverly McAnally announced that she has received payment of real property taxes from Detroit Diesel Allison on July 15, 1980. This payment was received about 10-weeks earlier than required. The early payment was made in response to a special request from Mayor William M. Oakley.

"It is very unusual for GM to pay taxes early," said Robert F. Brueck, DDA's manager of community and government relations.

"It is being done this time for two reasons: one is because we believe that the city's financial position is basically sound, and the current problems only temporary, and because we want to show our appreciation to Romulus, which has accommodated our sizeable operation here."

Personal property taxes on equipment as well as school and county taxes will be paid by Detroit Diesel Allison before the September 30 deadline.

Officials of some of the five communities are upset over the lack of reasons for Omnicon's recommendation by the Western Five Board.

The recently-formed Plymouth firm has been awarded franchises in several communities, including Plymouth and Canton Township, but has no system in actual operation.

Comcast, on the other hand, has 42 franchises in operation and United has 54 working systems.

The Western Five board last week did not indicate if it planned to reconsider its recommending vote for Omnicon after the two public hearings in September are held.

Many local area officials are wondering why Omnicon wanted to get a franchise from Romulus individually after it had bid on the five-community area. Since then, Omnicon also has appeared before the Sumpter Township Board and Belleville City Council. It also has asked, but not yet been granted permission to appear before the Van Buren Township Board.

However, should one of the cable TV companies succeed in obtaining individual franchises from several of the five communities, it could hook them into one larger system, ending up with what it went after originally for all five areas.

Oakley's friends plan a 50th birthday party

Friends and political supporters of Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley will honor him with a 50th birthday party Saturday, Aug. 16, 1980 in the new banquet room of the Romulus Holiday Inn.

The cocktail party will include appetizers and dancing, according to Ron Hopson, chairman of the committee sponsoring the occasion. He said the party will give city residents an opportunity to converse with the mayor and his wife in an informal atmosphere.

The party will begin at 9 p.m., with dancing continuing until 2 a.m., Hopson said. Price per person for the party will be $20.

For additional information, residents are asked to call 941-1077 or to write to: Mayor Oakley Committee, Box 507, Romulus, Mich. 48174.

Township gives blessing

Lemontree apartments get Cable TV franchise

Residents of Lemontree Apartments in Van Buren Township soon will be enjoying cable television now that the township board has agreed to give the complex a franchise for the system built there recently.

The township board last week voted to award a franchise to the apartment complex. Its provisions would be subject to the cable TV ordinance that the township will adopt when it gets its own cable TV system.

When the township does decide who it wants to build its cable TV installation, Lemontree will be able to hook its system to the larger one for the entire township.

In fact, Condor of Livonia, which built the apartment cable TV system, prepped it for eventual hookup to a larger system.

Condor will pay three percent of its gross revenues to the township and five percent to Lemontree.

Apartment residents now have a 40-channel capability on their basic system and can sign up for home box office movies as part of premium services offered.

Condor built the cable TV system at Lemontree in about two months.

In other business, the township board directed Stan Price, building department director, to obtain sealed bids for installation of a new roof on the old township hall in Belleville.

Price will bring the sealed bids to the next township board session.

Previously, the township board had rejected five bids for the roof work and other repairs, stating they were too high.

Out-county has growing pains

Area communities show population increase

Preliminary evaluation of unofficial 1980 census statistics indicate distinct population shifts and significant changes in housing growth in Wayne County, according to a report from the County Planning Commission.

Samuel A. Turner, Chairman of the County Board of Commissioners, stressed that the projections are based on the earliest returns to the U.S. Census Bureau and are subject to revision and verification after final federal figures are released. He said that even tentative data is not yet available for Detroit, Highland Park and Hamtramck.

While the County's population apparently is decreasing, the number of families appears to be increasing, Turner said of the report. He quoted from County Planning Director, Maurice W. Roach:

"It would seem," said Roach, "that there are fewer family members in each house, but more families. If these preliminary figures hold up, it indicates that Wayne County families aren't evaporating, but instead are spreading out into homes of their own."

The preliminary census count, excluding Detroit, Highland Park and Hamtramck, show a 2.54 percent population decline for the County, from 1,094,078 to 1,066,269 but an increase in housing units — up 20.2 percent from 316,736 in 1970 to the present 380,585.

Exceptional population growth since 1970 is reported for the communities of Huron Township with a 51 percent increase; Plymouth Township, a 55.9 percent increase; Sumpter Township, 67.3 percent; Brownstown Township, 202.9 percent; and Canton Township, 403.4 percent. These communities also experienced substantial growth in number of housing units, according to the early data. Ecorse, River Rouge and Wyandotte are the only communities showing both a population decline and a decrease in housing. According to the report, Ecorse is down 20.2 percent in population, 2.6 percent in housing; River Rouge, down 20.5 percent in population, 4.6 percent in housing; and Wyandotte, down 18 percent in population and 4 percent in housing.

All other communities, even those with population declines up to 19 percent, showed gains in housing in the report. Examples are Allen Park, Lincoln Park and Redford.

"Our staff review of this data show that in general the outer ring of Wayne County is continuing to gain in population, while the more central communities adjacent to the City of Detroit are declining," said Turner.

Roach said the report shows a pattern similar to that of both Oakland and Macomb counties. He said that his staff will keep monitoring census data as it becomes available.

St. Stephen to hold 32nd festival

St. Stephen Church, New Boston, will hold its 32nd Annual Festival on the Parish Grounds, Huron River Dr. near Sibley Rd., Sat. and Sun., August 16 and 17.

Hours for both days will be noon to 10 p.m.

There will be Roast Beef Sandwiches, Saturday and Bar-B-Que Chicken Dinners Sunday noon to 6 p.m. (Rain or Shine). Carry-outs will be available. Kielbasa, hamburgers, hot dogs and pizza will be available both days.

Cash prizes of $4,500, plus five other prizes will be given away. There will be games — prizes — refreshments — rides — live music — bingo. All events are under cover.

Saturday there will be music by Benny Boc from 5 - 9 and Disco Music from 9 - ? Special attraction Saturday will be a Pony Pull Contest from 2:30 to approximately 6:00.

Milliken asks area be declared as disaster

Gov. William G. Milliken, citing a long and costly cleanup process in the wake of a series of July thunderstorms, asked President Carter to declare that a state of emergency exists in parts of Michigan.

The specific disaster-affected area includes the counties of Van Buren, Washtenaw and Wayne, Milliken said in a letter to the President routed through Regional Director James H. Wagner of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

The time-consuming efforts at power restoration and the cost of cleanup are factors in the emergency request, Milliken said.

"Power outages still prevail today in some areas and trees and limbs continue to be a threat to the health and safety of the public," he wrote. "Brush piles and fallen trees present a serious fire hazard and broken limbs still up in trees present a continual public safety threat."

Local ability to shoulder the expenses involved is seriously strained, Milliken said, noting local governments have expended considerable overtime for work crews and contracted with private contractors throughout the damage area.

Damage assessment, which depends on the reports forwarded to Lansing from local units of government, will be forwarded to FEMA in a few days, he said.

He asked specifically for reimbursement for emergency debris clearance, low-interest federal loans for damage to homes, businesses and farms and low-interest loans from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Milliken informed the President that he already has proclaimed a state of disaster and directed the use of state resources where applicable, but added that "the necessary response to alleviate the existing situation at this time is beyond the capabilities of state and affected local governments."

Milliken Wednesday amended his state disaster proclamation to include Grand Haven and Spring Lake in Ottawa County.

USING YOUR FLASH

As a rule, most people use their flash incorrectly, falling victim to what's known as "the accessory shoe syndrome." The problem with using your flash on the camera (the direct flash method) is that it gives harsh, uninteresting lighting with deep and harsh edge shadows thrown on nearby objects. This is not to say there is no place for on camera flash when there is a reason for it.

Let's look at some of the possibilities for lighting your pictures.

DIRECT FLASH

If you must mount your flash on the hot shoe or use a mounting bracket on your camera you can eliminate the deep edge shadows commonly seen on direct flash pictures. Just make sure your subject is at least 8 or 9 feet from the background.

ZONE FLASH

An alternate method to direct flash is to standardize on three or four shooting distances. If you accept the premise that the majority of flash situations will fit the composition resulting from working at predetermined distances, you can preset both focus and aperture. Good working distances with a normal lens (in the case of 35mm camera we are talking about a 50mm lens) seems to be 5, 10 or 15 feet. Sharp pictures are achieved by placing the subject at one of those three distances from the camera, or if you will, placing the camera at one of those three distances from the subject.

OFF CAMERA FLASH

By removing your flash unit from the hot shoe you can achieve a more natural lighting effect. You may need an accessory flash or sync cord to connect the camera to the flash unit. If you cannot position your subject several feet in front of the background, or if the background is to be part of the picture, all you need to do is remove the flash unit from the camera and hold it up and to one side of the subject (keep the flash pointed at the subject) and make the exposure. By doing this the shadows from the flash will be directed down and away from the subject.

By varying the position of the flash unit you will achieve different effects, so do some experimenting.

Next week we will take a look at bounce flashing and how to do close up and outdoor flash work.

Pets and animals

Pet care and grooming

Medium and long haired dogs and cats need to have their hair combed. This should be done on a regular basis. Most pets do fine with a once-a-week combing. Take small amounts of hair, insert the comb to the skin, and pull up. Start at the front or back of the animal and comb in strips around the body, then comb the legs, head, ears, and tail. When combing is completed, a brush may be used to finish the hair coat.

Do not cut mats with scissors unless you can clearly see the skin. Many times an animal's skin is cut while removing a mat with scissors, even by an experienced person, when the skin cannot be seen.

Most mats can be pulled apart with the fingers and then combed. It is much easier to prevent mats than to remove them once they are present. Dogs that shed have to have their undercoat combed out to avoid matting. If a dog has many mats, I suggest the help of a professional groomer.

Dogs and cats can have their nails trimmed at home. If the nails are white, it is easier to cut them. The pink color which is seen in the nail is the blood bed and should not be cut. With black nails, you must estimate the proper length of the nail and cut back to that point a little at a time. Don't panic if the nail begins to bleed.

Apply a septic pencil or use a powder applied to the nail, or place a tight bandage on the entire paw for a few hours and replace it with a light bandage for two to three days. Try to cut the nails at a normal wearing angle. Trimming the nails can be done every six to eight weeks.

The outside of an ear can be cleaned with a kleenex or Q-tip. Clean only what you can see. Don't probe the canal. The ear canal in dogs and cats is like an "L" on its side. As long as you go straight down you cannot damage the ear canal. The ear can be filled like a cup using mineral oil, rubbing alcohol, peroxide, or equal parts of white vinegar and water. Massage gently on the outside of the ear.

The wax in the ear will float to the surface and is easily wiped away with a tissue. Wipe out the excess fluid, allow your pet to shake its head, then wipe the ear again. The ears can be cleaned once a month on a regular basis or as you notice excess wax building.

If you have problems grooming your dog or cat, see a professional groomer or ask your veterinarian for advice.

IF DEATH OCCURS AWAY FROM HOME

HOW DO I HANDLE THE ARRANGEMENTS?

Should the death of a loved one occur while traveling in this country or overseas, call us immediately. We can handle several of the additional and necessary procedures incurred when death happens away from home. Our membership or experience with national and international funeral service organizations will help a lot. We have access to the services of funeral homes almost anywhere and we can make the arrangements with less confusion and expense.

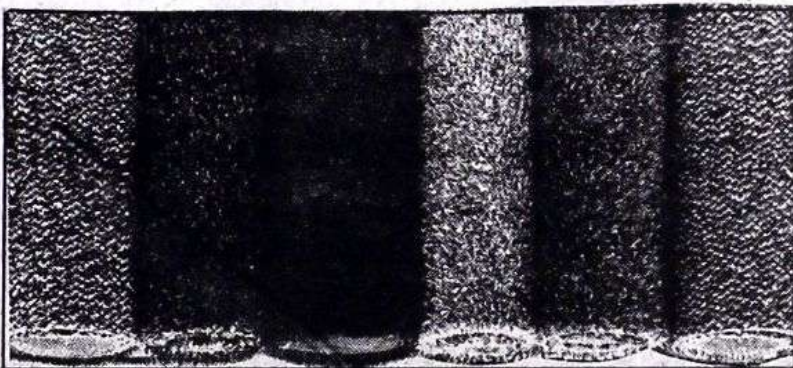

We'll confer with you by phone and follow your wishes as we always do. Our services can include making arrangements for burial at home, at the location of death or elsewhere. Especially on overseas death there are problems which would need our care and attention.

No matter the hour of day or night, remember the telephone operator can put you in contact with us. Your wishes will receive the same concern and care away from home which we give here at home. Using our services as the PRIMARY SOURCE will avoid any duplication of effort and fees. We've known of situations which caused much needless grief and doubled expenses because no primary source was chosen.

Call us for any particular details.

RICHARD C. KAUFMAN RUNS FOR CIRCUIT COURT

Candidacy Endorsed by AFL-CIO's
United Transportation Union

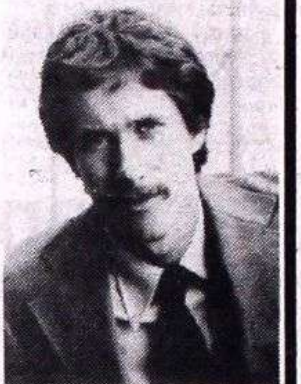

Do the presidential election prospects have you leaning toward "None of the Above"? Do the candidates for local office seem to be coming out of the woodwork? There is one name to watch — Richard Kaufman. "Richard Kaufman?" you say, "the name sounds familiar..."

You may recognize the name as the attorney who championed the cause of Wayne County residents and unmarried drivers against the automobile insurance companies who charged them higher rates. Attorney Kaufman also worked for years as legal advisor to the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force.

Kaufman, an honors graduate of the University of Michigan and Wayne State Law School, is a candidate for Wayne County Circuit Court in the August 5 Primary Election. He has strong feelings about the quality (or lack of quality) in the Michigan judiciary after practicing law in Wayne County for years. "Often a judge in Michigan retains his office for so many years that he ceases to be a servant of the law, and instead views the law as his servant. I believe there are strong arguments in favor of a limitation on the amount of years a person can hold judicial office."

On August 5, when you pull the lever or punch the holes on the primary election ballot, take a moment to read down the list of candidates and find the name, RICHARD C. KAUFMAN. He will make a fine judge and he deserves your vote.

Information provided and paid for by Kaufman for Circuit Court Committee, 19952 Stratford, Detroit, Michigan 48221.

W-W respite center: Hotel for handicapped

The proprietor of the newly-opened Respite Center tucked in a corner of the school district land on Marquette, calls his establishment a "hotel for the handicapped."

For those area residents who have been scratching their heads trying to figure out what the large house is, and exactly what "respite center" means, he's precisely right.

Respite is defined in the dictionary as "an interval of rest or relief." And a respite center is a place where developmentally disabled persons who normally live at home can spend a week or two, giving both them and their families a vacation from one another.

Offering that chance for rest is one way of supporting the family that is keeping their mentally and/or physically handicapped loved one at home. Often, caring for the disabled child or adult is a responsibility that just doesn't let up, doesn't give the parents the time they need to spend with other children in the family, or go away on vacations, or be alone.

"There are cases of people who have never let the child out of their sight for 5 or 10 years," explained School Supt. Timothy Dyer. "By offering this relief, we're supporting the concept of having the handicapped person stay in the family. It's hard enough to raise a family in the 1980s, and we feel the schools have a responsibility to help families adjust (to their home situations), to deliver social services, too."

"Education is simply not packaged in neat little pieces any more, especially education for the handicapped."

The center is operated by the Wayne-Westland Community Schools, the only district to operate such a facility. It is a reflection of Dyer's view that the schools have to be concerned about lifelong learning and family services, for one reason because the ability of a child to learn depends so much on what is happening at home. Also, Dyer said, the school district has lots of resources — social workers, transportation services, to name a few. So why permit more duplication of government social services?

The center is operated totally with funds from Wayne County Community Mental Health.

Proprietors of the hotel for the handicapped are Jack and Lin McNair, who live in a small apartment in the large house with their three young children, Josh, Jacob and Luke, all normal youngsters.

The McNairs have spent six years as live-in houseparents for group homes, so their children find it natural to live among developmentally disabled people, "they don't know any different lifestyle," explained McNair. He has had experience not only in the group homes, but also at the Plymouth Center for Human Development, Northville Residential Training Center and Macomb Oakland Regional Center.

Other staff is on duty in three shifts, to provide day and night care, on a ratio of care worker to guest that is 3 to 1, or sometimes at peak times 1 to 1. In addition, are support staff that include a full-time cook, custodians, and the professional staff of the school district. The Northwest Guidance Clinic in Garden City takes care of intake work in lining up the guests and scheduling them.

The building is part of the huge educational service center complex being built on Marquette west of John Glenn High School. It is the only part completed. Tucked into a corner of the large site, the building actually looks like a very large house, specifically designed and furnished in a way to de-institutionalize the setting. It was built with funds from a federal Local Public Works grant.

There's room in the house for 16 people, eight children (up to 18 years old) and eight adults (18 and older), each on a separate side of the house and maintained separately according to state guidelines.

The children's side has been open since early April, the first guests arriving on Easter weekend, McNair said. The adult side is yet to open, but should be taking guests quite soon.

Guests who come to stay can be either physically or mentally disabled, or both. Some are mentally retarded, others have epilepsy or cerebral palsy and have no mental disability, others may be autistic or emotionally impaired. Although preference is given to local people, the center is open to anyone in Wayne County.

Designed primarily as a respite for parents who provide constant care for their loved one, McNair said he has found that the visit to the center frequently turns into a "vacation" for the handicapped person as well.

The house is flexible and friendly, the guests go to their regular schools, if they attend school, and the staff tries to make everyone feel at home. The visitors have their names pasted on the doors of their rooms in brightly sculptured letters cut from construction paper, and original art work made by the guests themselves or posters decorate the walls.

As a general rule, no individual can stay more than a total of 30 days a year, although each person is individually assessed because each one's circumstances are unique.

Parents are charged a fee for time their child spends at the center, but only on a sliding scale according to what they can afford. And no one, McNair emphasized, is denied use of the center because of inability to pay.

The respite center is named after Rose Kennedy, in recognition of her work for handicapped individuals, particularly through the Special Olympics Foundation. School officials expect to have an official dedication of the center in the fall or winter, and are hopeful that Mrs. Kennedy will attend.

What's a home ...

Sharon Carr doubled as a cook and care worker on this particular day at the Rose Kennedy Respite Center, operated by the Wayne-Westland Community Schools. She's cutting up some delicious concoction for the guests who are staying at the center, a place where developmentally disabled children and adults can spend a few days or weeks away from their homes and families. — ANP photo.

Seniors are offered free health tests

Romulus senior citizens are being offered free health tests at the Senior Center, 36515 Bibbins beginning on Monday August 4 from 8:45 a.m. until 2 p.m.

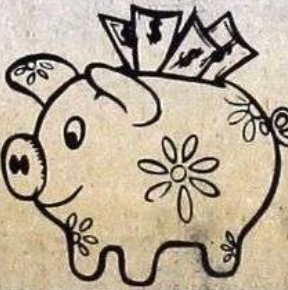

The examinations, which include blood pressure, height, weight, temperature, pulse, respiration, vision-hearing, hematocrit, dextrostix, tuberculin and glaucoma tests, will run through Thursday, August 14 and are conducted by qualified medical personnel.

The program is sponsored by the Wayne County Area Agency on Aging and is open to any Romulus citizen 60 years of age or older.

Anyone interested must make an appointment by calling 274-2800 or 729-2211.

house. A large red (wood) barn was built on a knoll northwest of the house in 1912.

Old-timers still recall how neighbors came from miles around to celebrate its completion with a big barn dance and plenty of good food. Of Dutch style, the basement barn was 40 feet high, with a cross beam to support its high-hipped roof. It was destroyed by fire in 1969.

Ray V. Morris married Flora Lucy Hasselbach, daughter of Baldwin and Eliza Hasselbach of New Boston, on June 8, 1914 in Whittaker, Michigan, Washtenaw County, and the couple took up housekeeping in the Merrill-Morris House. Five children were born in the house to Ray and Flora. They are in order of their birth: Carl W., Pearl M., Helen E., Charles R., and Marion L. The last two are deceased.

Ray did general farming, tended large apple orchards, and raised strawberries, raspberries, sweet corn, melons, and squash. He always kept a sharp-looking span of mules for plowing, cultivating, and preferred them to horses. In the spring he tapped the trees in his maple grove, and gathering the sap for making maple syrup was a family operation. Sap was boiled out-of-doors, 40 quarts of sap to make one quart of maple syrup. Flora completed the process indoors, and then weighed and sealed each quart of maple syrup in Mason jars. Customers

Historic home

The Merrill-Morris House, built around 1846 will officially be dedicated in ceremonies on Aug. 10 as a Michigan Historical site. The house, created in Greek Revival architecture, is on Huron River Drive and has been a part of local and American history for more than 150 years. Members of the state and local historical societies will be on hand at 2 p.m. for the dedication ceremonies.

came many miles to buy the maple syrup, homemade cottage cheese and butter, and to drink fresh buttermilk, at the house and garage.

In 1931 a roadside fruit stand was built, and the family sold fruit, vegetables, maple syrup, and dairy products from the Morris Farm. In the heyday of the 20's and 30's sometimes up to 100 cars from Detroit and the suburbs would fill the yard and line the roadside on weekends.

The second wedding to take place in the historic house was on March 29, 1941 when the second daughter, Helen E. Morris and Frederick W. Hay were united in marriage by Rev. Spotts before the front parlor window.

After the untimely death of her husband, Flora L. Morris maintained and preserved the residence with love and care for some 28 years. Her children and grandchildren found a home and shelter there during times of trouble.

The walls of the historic house echoed with walls of crying infants, laughing children, and visiting relatives and friends. It was a home to all who came to stay, even for a short while.

The children (and later the grandchildren) rode the fields and woods, or followed the freshly-plowed furrows on their ponies and riding horses. "Grandma Morris" as she was fondly known to all, was a true grandmother. She shared her house, her land, her food, and her love. Many others wished that she could have been their grandma, too.

Upon the passing of Flora L. Morris on November 16, 1970, the house and two acres passed to her eldest daughter and present owner, Pearl M. Morris, who has lived there throughout her lifetime. She taught piano lessons in the house for some 35 years and reported for the local newspaper for about the same period of time. Piano recitals were held in the house each Christmas time, with students numbering in the thirties.

Today Pearl M. Morris operates "Pearl's Candy Store", with neighborhood children being her chief clientele. The store was built in 1931 and was first used as a fruit and vegetable stand. It is now nearing its 50th year as a Romulus business operated by one family.

In May, 1978 the Merrill-Morris House was selected by the City of Romulus as a local historic site. At the same time the Michigan Historical Commission listed the house in the State Register of Historic Sites.

This indicates that the Historical Commission has judged the site to be either historically significant or architecturally significant. Such registration also enables the purchase and display of an official marker, approved by the Michigan Historical Commission. Pearl Varner, President Romulus Historical Society

Shipwatching: Natural pastime in Water Wonderland

(Editor's Note: This is the 11th in a series of 15 summer features designed to encourage inexpensive, fuel-saving activities in Michigan. The release and artwork can be run together or independently.)

Michigan, steeped in maritime tradition, is a ship watcher's mecca with thousands of huge freighters and ocean-going ships plying the state's busy waterways each year, reports Automobile Club of Michigan.

Ship-watching vantage points are varied as the cargo aboard the vessels. They include restaurants, state parks, scenic bluffs overlooking Lake Michigan, an island, an international bridge and a 21-story observation tower.

It's little wonder why the Detroit River claims title to the world's busiest waterway, with more than 25 million tons of freight passing annually. Detroit's Belle Isle provides excellent views of huge Great Lakes freighters and foreign ships.

The 29-mile stretch along M-29 from Algonac to south of Port Huron offers some of the best ship watching in Michigan. Algonac's state and city parks front on the St. Clair River which connects the upper and lower Great Lakes.

Algonac State Park, two miles north of Algonac, is extremely close to the passing vessels since the river is only one-half mile wide at the point.

Many restaurants in the St. Clair area offer a pleasant river view. Two popular eateries — the Voyageur and St. Clair Inn — are connected by the world's longest fresh-water boardwalk spanning seven blocks. North of town is Chuck Muer's River Crab, another fine waterfront restaurant. The Blue Water Bridge connecting Port Huron and Sarnia, Ont., is open to pedestrians and provides a good spot for ship watching. Also offering a panoramic view are the North Scenic Turnout at the foot of the bridge; Pine Grove Park, on M-25 three blocks north of the business district, and the Fogcutter restaurant atop the Peoples Bank Building.

Grain is a main export from Bay City to Canadian ports via the Saginaw River, and Wenonah Park and Bay City State Park are good vantage points.

The mineral-rich northeast section of the Lower Peninsula lays claim to two "world's largest" titles. The Cement Division of National Gypsum Co. (formerly the Huron Portland Cement Co.) of Alpena is the world's largest cement plant while 35 miles north is Rogers City and the world's largest limestone quarry.

National Gypsum operates its own fleet of freighters and visitors can see them from Alpena's small boat harbor.

One-hour plant tours are conducted every Friday at 1 p.m. Interested persons should call ahead (517-354-4171).

At Rogers City's Calcite quarry and harbor, operated by United States Steel, tourists can see limestone mined from Quarry View (off B.R. U.S. 23) and loaded onto a vessel from Harbor View, or tour the pilothouse of the retired steamer Calcite.

Mackinaw City and St. Ignace both provide excellent views of ships passing through the Straits of Mackinac. Mackinaw City boasts six municipal waterfront parks while St. Ignace has Straits State Park just northeast of the Mackinac Bridge.

Another fine ship-watching spot is the waterfront in De Tour Village, east of St. Ignace. Many ships take on limestone across from the village in Port Drummond at the western tip of Drummond Island. Other ships pass through De Tour Passage on their way to or from the Soo Locks.

The famous locks at Sault Ste. Marie route big freighters around the 22-foot fall of the St. Mary's River which connects Lakes Huron and Superior. Even though two of the four locks are closed this summer due to reduced traffic, they are still the world's busiest.

There is a viewing stand close to the two open locks, and several blocks away there's the 21-story Tower of History. The 45-second ride to the top is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for youths.

Other U.P. ship-watching spots include Marquette's Presque Isle Park and Sand Point near Escanaba. Major shipping points along the Lake Michigan shoreline include Traverse City, Muskegon, Holland, Grand Haven and St. Joseph.

Elmwood Park in Traverse City is near the loading docks, but for more aesthetic surroundings, try Peterson Township Park, three miles west of Northport, or Pt. Betsie near Frankfort.

Prime locations in Muskegon include Pere Marquette Park or Muskegon State Park. In Holland, there's Kollens Park near Lake Macatawa; at Grand Haven, it's Grand Haven State Park and in St. Joseph, there's Margaret Upton Memorial Park on the St. Joseph River.

Although in financial trouble, Lake Michigan's "Love Boats" still run from Ludington and Frankfort-Elberta to three Wisconsin ports. The car ferries, which depart Frankfort-Elberta twice and Ludington three daily, are subsidized by the State of Michigan. While freight is their main business, the ferries still transport passengers with or without automobiles. Staterooms, a cocktail lounge and a dining room are available.

Persons can watch the auto-passenger ferries load or unload from Sterns Park public beach in Ludington or from the Elberta side of Detsie Lake near Frankfort.

Want to dance?

Bill Meyer and His Orchestra will provide music for week-end dancing at the outdoor dance center of Willow Metropark near New Boston on Saturday, August 9 from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The dance program is "free", except for the required Metropark vehicle entry permits (Annual: regular - $7, senior citizen - $2 or Daily - $2).

Community leaders support Proposal 'A'

Judge: county government must be made efficient

Reorganization of Wayne County government is of utmost importance to suburban communities since they are highly dependent upon the county for government services, downriver business and community leaders were told Monday.

The comments came at a discussion meeting on Proposal A on the August 5th ballot, calling for a charter commission to undertake the reform of Wayne County government. The discussion was held at the Presidential Inn, Southgate, by the Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce, and was attended by business and community leaders from Belleville, Romulus and southern Wayne County.

On the panel were Frank T. Judge, Jr., Director of Civic Affairs, Ford Motor Company; John L. Hand, Chief Counsel, J. L. Hudson; and Mary Panek, President, Downriver League of Women Voters.

All three urged approval of Proposal A and the drafting of a county charter. If Proposal A is approved, Wayne County voters next year would decide between two proposed versions of a charter or could reject a charter altogether.

Judge noted that co-chairpersons of the Citizens to Reform Wayne County, supporting Proposal A, include a broad cross-section of Wayne County leaders.

"Business leaders such as Joseph L. Hudson, Jr., are working for county reform along with such labor leaders as Bard Young, Regional Director of the U.A.W.," Judge said. "And there is bipartisan support from key suburban legislators including Senate Democratic Leader William Faust, State Senator Robert Geake of Northville, and House Republican Leader William Bryant.

They are well aware that the responsibilities assigned to county government in the suburbs can be better handled with a restructured and more efficient government authority with responsible and identifiable leadership."

County reorganization will result in more efficient use of tax dollars for county services, according to Hand.

"At present there is no long-range financial planning or forecasting," he said. "One of the first goals of the charter commission will be to coordinate all financial functions which are now unnecessarily fragmented, begin strategic fiscal planning, and consider implementation of improved management techniques," he said.

"The charter commission will also be able to streamline other operations which are of particular importance to suburban Wayne communities, such as law enforcement and drains."

Ms. Panek called attention to the primary election on August 5th for candidates to be chosen from each county district to serve on the charter commission. If Proposal A is approved, the general election for candidates would be in November.

"The Charter commissioners will undertake an historic and critical assignment, so it is important that voters study the candidates and choose carefully. To be effective, they must write a workable, consensus charter that will be accepted by a majority of all county voters," she said. "Otherwise, this great opportunity to make county government more efficient and responsive could be lost for years to come."

Attends insurance conference

James F. Smithpeters of Westland recently attended the Prudential Insurance Co.'s District Agencies International Business Conference at the Southampton Princess Hotel in Bermuda.

Smithpeters is an agent with the company's Livonia district office.

There were 407 district agents from among the nearly 20,000 district agency sales representatives throughout the United States and Canada attending the four-day conference.

The featured speakers at the conference were Robert A. Beck, Prudential chairman and chief executive officer, and David J. Sherwood, Prudential president.

The conference also included workshops and seminars on advanced underwriting subjects and new marketing areas.

She'll lead Torch Drive

Barbara (Mrs. E.J.) Alban of Dearborn, has accepted a top volunteer leadership position in the United Foundation 1980 Torch Drive.

Mrs. Alban will serve as West Unit leader for Community Campaigns. The West Unit covers all suburban areas of Wayne county, downriver communities, Highland Park and all of Detroit west of Woodward Avenue.

As West Unit leader, Mrs. Alban will be responsible for enrolling and training Torch Drive volunteers to solicit residents, small businesses and selected professionals in these Wayne county communities.

Mrs. Alban is also involved with the Women for United Foundation Society Auxiliary, Oakland Hospital Guild, Women for United Foundation (WUF), WADOS (Dearborn Orchestral Society) and Women's Auxiliary-Michigan Industrial Medical Association.

The 1980 Torch Drive will be conducted from October 13 through November 6 to raise operating funds for 137 charitable agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Last year's Torch Drive raised $45.3 million.

REFORM COUNTY GOVERNMENT!

IT'S YOUR TURN

On August 5th, Wayne County voters will have the opportunity to reform and streamline county government. Your YES vote on Proposal A will establish a Wayne County Charter Commission authorized to draw up a new Charter which will reorganize and restructure county government.

At the same time, voters in each of the 27 Districts will nominate candidates to serve on the charter commission. Voters will make the final selection of these charter commissioners at the November 4th General Election.

The charter commission will draw up two alternative county charters for presentation to the voters. The charters will be similar except that one will provide for a county executive elected by the voters and the other will provide for a chief administrative officer appointed by the Board of Commissioners. The voters may choose one charter or defeat both and send them back to the charter commission for revision and later resubmission to the voters.

CITIZENS TO REFORM WAYNE COUNTY

Dear Friend,
As suburban co-chairpersons of the Citizens to Reform Wayne County, we are asking your help in encouraging all voters to join us in urging a YES vote on County Home Rule Proposal A.
We feel strongly that passage of Proposal A is important for all residents of Wayne County and, in particular, the suburban residents who rely so heavily on county services.

"COUNTY GOVERNMENT . . . A SHAMBLES"

The long record of Wayne County government ineffectiveness and mismanagement led to formation of a 25 member Citizens Efficiency Task Force composed of business, labor and civic leaders to analyze the problem.

They found that waste, inefficiency, cronyism and lack of central control in county government are costing taxpayers millions of dollars and affect the quality of services vitally needed by citizens in every one of the county's 43 cities and townships.

For several years, Wayne County has operated with a large and growing deficit. By the end of 1980, reliable estimates indicate that expenses will exceed income by far more than the county's public admission of a deficit of twenty-five million dollars.

The inability to maintain a workable budget, to provide vitally needed services and to operate county government in an organized, effective manner make it imperative that changes be made now.

End the waste of your tax dollars by reforming Wayne County Government!

Here's advice to residents who had storm damage

The violent windstorm which whipped through Belleville and Romulus on July 16th has caused widespread property damage and raised significant questions concerning the income tax treatment of such damage, according to Janice Shatzman in the Detroit Office of the certified public accounting of Peat, marwick, Mitchell & Co.

Ms. Shatzman suggests that all people immediately begin collecting any available information which might substantiate the loss deduction. This would include:

1. A description of the nature of the casualty and where it occurred.
2. Proof that the loss is a direct result of the casualty.
3. Proof that the taxpayer was the owner of the property, or was contractually liable for damage.
4. A complete description of the damaged property and its location.

5. The cost of other tax basis of the property and improvements, as supported by a purchase contract, deed, cancelled checks, etc.
6. The amount of prior depreciation, if any.
7. The fair market value of the property immediately before and after the casualty, preferably as ascertained by competent appraisal

Attention, FHA homeowners — you may have rebate coming

Wayne County Commissioner Clemens Bykowski's 1977 report alerting FHA homeowners of possible rebates is getting rave notices if a recent column by Jack Woerpel, home section editor of a Detroit newspaper, is any indication.

Three years ago Bykowski urged owners of FHA mortgaged homes to investigate their possible eligibility for rebates of up to $600 under the little-known Section 203 of FHA regulations.

This section deals with escrow accounts from which eligible applicants are paid refunds when their mortgages are fully satisfied.

According to Bykowski, in his 1977 report, the exact amount of the refund is determined by the amount of the loan and the number of years covered by the contract.

Woerpel's column quotes a Dearborn Heights woman who is expecting a $1,000 refund from their mortgage insurance premiums. "The Dearborn Heights woman," the column relates, "is the latest of scores of homeowners who have written to report how pleased they were to get the bonanza."

Bykowski stressed that the possible refund pertains only to FHA mortgages which have been in force a minimum of 15 years, and not homes bought under G.I. provisions or land contract sales. The commissioner estimates that nearly 70 percent of the FHA-financed homes were bought under the Section 203 provision.

He also said that an heir or next of kin to deceased persons can also apply as executors of an estate, but these applicants should include certificates and notarized signatures of the applicant.

FORTY THOUSAND VOLUNTEERS CARE

Schumm honored posthumously

The Board of Trustees of the Wayne Community College recently honored the late George Schumm by passing a formal resolution highlighting his community contributions.

George Schumm was an active supporter of church, community and educational endeavors in Western County. He served as Deacon and Board Chairman of his local Congregational Christian Church as well as Moderator of the Congregational Christian Churches of the Conference of Michigan.

In the area of education, George Schumm served on the Wayne Board of Education for eight years, served as Chairman of the Governing Board of Olivet College and substantially supported the birth, growth and development of Wayne Community College by serving as Chairman of the Area Seven Citizens Advisory Council.

"George Schumm has been formally honored by Wayne Community College twice" says Trustee James McCartney, "and his endless contribution of time and support has had an impact on the growth and quality of this institution."

Other contributions include serving as Charter Member of the Wayne YMCA, member of the City of Wayne Human Relations Committee, and President of the Alma College Alumni Association.

Sampson seeks V-B trustee post

Gary M. Sampson of Van Buren Township, has tossed his hat into the political ring. He seeks the job as trustee.

Sampson, who is the owner of Adventure Travel Service in Belleville and Detroit, is married with two children and has been a Van Buren Township resident for the past nine years.

He is an active member of many business and civic organizations, such as the Chamber of Commerce in Belleville and Detroit, the Recreation Commission of Van Buren Township, Chairman of the Administration Commission of St.

Anthony Church in Belleville plus one of the original innovators in the Strawberry Festival. He is a veteran.

Sampson is a past president of the Northwest Detroit Lions Club, a member of Fr. Patrick O'Kelley's Knights of Columbus, and a member of the Detroit Executive Association. He attended Eastern Michigan University and is presently a student at Mercy College in Detroit.

He is a Business Management major. He promises "honesty and integrity in strengthening the community."

AFTER THE STORM

Detroit Edison extends its thanks to more than 300,000 customers who suffered from the most severe thunderstorm on record.

Your patience and understanding helped make orderly restoration of electricity possible.

The thunderstorm that struck at 9 A.M. Wednesday, July 16 was the worst in the area's history. Over 500 utility poles were snapped like toothpicks by hurricane force winds.

8,000 spans of Detroit Edison wire were ripped apart and 700 miles of overhead lines downed. Facilities which took years to build were destroyed in a few minutes. Much of the damage was caused by trees falling on lines and poles.

Immediately after the skies cleared, experienced damage evaluators began to assess the degree of destruction.

Transmission towers and cross arms were twisted piles of steel.

Thousands of uprooted trees littered the streets blocking access to power lines.

Nearly 35 substations and 200 distribution circuits were interrupted.

In all, more than 300,000 customers were left without power.

By noon, repair crews were transferred to the southern portion of Detroit Edison's electrical system where the damage was heaviest. On Thursday, every available company, contract and tree trim crew was at work in Detroit and Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

Working ahead of the repair crews, evaluators determined the degree of trouble in each circuit. They estimated requirements for crews and equipment.

So massive was the destruction that almost immediately Detroit Edison called for help from other utilities through its Mutual Assistance Pact. Soon, 101 crews from out-of-state utilities, including Cleveland Electric Illuminating, Toledo Edison, Ohio Edison and Commonwealth Edison of Chicago were working alongside Detroit Edison crews.

Restoration efforts went on around the clock. In 90 degree heat more than 2000 field workers labored on 16-hour shifts to restore power to customers in a repair program that continued until all power was restored. Repair work carried on even through the following Sunday's heavy thunderstorm which deprived 15,000 additional customers of electricity.

First priority in power restoration is given to emergency facilities such as hospitals or buildings housing medical equipment. Next, police and fire stations, water and sewage pumping stations, as well as high voltage transmission and subtransmission lines feeding individual substations are restored. In all cases, those repairs which restore power to the greatest number of customers and take the least time are given priority.

At this report, Detroit Edison believes it has restored power to all customers left without electricity by the recent storm.

It was hard work, skill and dedication that made this so. And for this Detroit Edison says a special thank you to the repair crews and Detroit Edison people supporting them.

We also express our appreciation to the many customers who talked to the crews in person or who telephoned or wrote our offices to say thank you.

If you or someone you know is still without electricity, please contact your nearest Detroit Edison customer office.

Beware

The good old pyramid game

By FRANK J. KELLEY
Attorney General

(This is one of a series of public service articles explaining, in general terms, a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult with a private attorney.)

Recently, a large number of pyramid and chain letter operations have made their appearance in Michigan as they have in other parts of the country. These operations go under names such as Circle of Gold, Circle of Platinum and People Helping People.

While they promise great sums of money in return for a small investment, they will likely cost you money and could give you a criminal record.

Participation in chain letter schemes is illegal under the Michigan Franchise Investment Law.

A person who sells such a scheme could be convicted of a felony, punishable by a fine of up to $10,000 or seven years in prison — or both.

Despite that fact, my office has received reports that the promoters of these chain letter schemes often claim they are not illegal when the mail system is not used or only cash is accepted. Those assurances are false.

Regardless of how the sales are made, the chain letter schemes are still illegal.

For one type of chain letter scheme, an individual buys a list of 12 names for $50 and dishes out another $50 to the person whose name appears at the top of that list. Then the buyer scratches out the top listed name and adds hers or his own name to the bottom of the list.

Next, the buyer sells two copies of the list to other persons to be reimbursed the $100 he or she paid for the list in the first place. Those 2 buyers are then supposed to each sell the list to 2 other persons, then each of those 4 buyers sell to 2 other persons, and each of those 8 buyers sell to 2 other persons, etc.

Participants in the chain letter scheme are encouraged to sell the list to friends, neighbors and family. Parties are sometimes held by promoters to whip up excitement and promise rewards to those who vigorously push the selling of lists bearing their names.

Eventually each buyer is supposed to get to the top of the list and receive thousands of dollars. But simple arithmetic shows that to be a false promise. More than 8,000 buyers would have to purchase the list for each buyer at the bottom to reach the top of all the lists.

In further calculations reports of a prosecution in the State of New York show that to complete 3 cycles, a list would require 25 billion purchasers — 7 times the entire population of the Earth!

Of course it can be assumed that with all of the money changing hands, a good number of crooks and cheaters will make sure that the unsuspecting buyer never reaps a profit, therefore confirming the illegality of the chain letter operation.

I recognize that many people are enticed into participation into these chain letter schemes without knowing of their illegal and fraudulent nature, but there are those who are well aware of the law and intentionally exploit others for their personal profit.

In determining which individuals will be prosecuted, consideration is given to factors such as whether the person stopped promoting the lists after learning of their illegality and whether the person voluntarily came forward and offered to cooperate.

If you have been or are asked to buy into a chain letter operation, you should file a complaint with my office at the following address:

In the Armed Services

Linda Lee's in the Army now...

Linda Lee Lindenmuth, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Larry Lindenmuth of Farnum Road in Romulus, recently joined the United States Army Delayed Entry Program.

LINDA LINDENMUTH

A 1979 graduate of Romulus High School, Linda enlisted through Sergeant Fred Teutsch of the U.S. Army Recruiting Station at 3649 Metro Place Mall in Wayne, and will leave for Basic Training on 24th of September.

She joined the Army for the training and travel opportunities, and to take advantage of the Veterans Education Assistance Program. Taking Basic Training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, Linda will then attend the Administrative Specialist's School at the same installation.

Airman James R. Heikes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Heikes Jr., of 9422 Van Buren St., Belleville, recently participated in Global Shield 80, a Strategic Air Command (SAC) exercise at McConnell Air Force Base, here.

The exercise was designed to test the ability of SAC forces to react to emergency wartime conditions.

In addition to providing aircrews with realistic training, Global Shield 80 provided training experience for support personnel, including ground and missile crews.

Navy Seaman Recruit Robert E. Ratti, son of George W. and Lois Ratti of 13414 Martinsville, Belleville, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in his studies were seamanship, close-order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1976 graduate of Belleville High School, he joined the Navy in April, 1980.

Airman Steven D. Gillum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Gillum of 20680 Merriman, Romulus, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

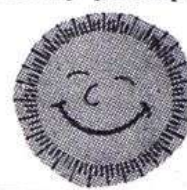

During the six weeks at Lackland

Airman Gillum is a 1978 graduate of Huron High School, New Boston. Airman James R. Heikes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Heikes Jr., of 9422 Van Buren St., Belleville, recently participated in Global Shield 80, a Strategic Air Command (SAC) exercise at McConnell Air Force Base, here.

The VA beat

When you get the big news

One of the first letters a veteran receives upon separation from the military is an invitation from Administrator of Veterans Affairs Max Cleland.

This correspondence is the first item in a six month information campaign to alert new veterans to a myriad of Veterans Administration benefits.

"As soon as the Department of Defense sends word of a veteran's separation," Cleland said, "he or she becomes the target of a direct mail effort designed to insure complete understanding of a veteran's rights."

In its first letter, VA encourages the veteran to contact the nearest VA regional office — or a representative of a veterans service organization — for benefits details and how to apply.

Follow on mailings continue for six months. These tell the veterans how to get a GI home loan, condominium and mobile home loans, plus information on insurance and educational programs.

Then, at the end of the six month period, the VA sends a round-up letter, reviewing and reminding veterans of benefits.

This is the timetable VA uses to inform new veterans, and Cleland hopes it will be the timetable veterans themselves follow in making the transition back to civilian life. He feels it is an excellent chart for setting and pursuing individual educational, vocational-training, and employment goals.

Here's a checklist for new veterans:

On arrival at home — register with local state employment service office. The longer you remain unemployed before you apply for unemployment compensation, the lower the rate.

Within 90 days — apply to former employer for reemployment.

Within one year — apply to VA for dental care based on certain dental conditions.

In 120 days — (up to one year if totally disabled) convert Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to five-year Veterans' Group Life Insurance. By applying within 120 days of separation you don't need a physical examination.

More letters to the editor

Candidate says that he was treated unfairly

EDITOR — In your article in the July 23, 1980 edition of the "Romulus Roman" concerning my seeking the Republican nomination for Huron Township Trustee, I feel I have been treated unjustly; necessitating my response.

Upon reading the article, it could be construed to seem that I have been singled out as not a good prospect for the office of Huron Township Trustee.

Is this an opinion? If so, based upon what facts? Had the author been truly concerned with informing the people about who are the best candidates for the office of Trustee, he may have been obliged to set up an interview with me to learn the facts. Upon such an encounter, perhaps the author would have deemed that I am the best candidate for this office.

Perhaps the author formed this opinion upon the fact that I am "a political unknown". I do not consider this a detriment, after all, everyone has to start out somewhere. My being unknown does not mean that I am uninformed. I believe that my new ideas and fresh ideals will be of great value to this Township.

In all fairness, I would expect that my opinion could be expressed in your paper, before the primary election. However, after reading this article, I do not expect that to happen as it is my judgment that yours is not a fair and equitable operation, but in reality, a biased and prejudiced newspaper. That is really a shame, because I feel that the people want to be heard and we had better start listening.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT J. MARKER

Candidate for Huron Township Trustee

A Little League answer

EDITOR — In answer to the Editorial that was placed in the Roman on July 23, heading "minor Ball Dispute", I would like to enlighten any father or mother on the rules of Little League baseball.

First, Little League baseball is to teach fair play and good sportsmanship.

The minor league is just a training program similar to T-ball, where no standings will be kept.

Players who tryout for the Major Leagues that show sufficient maturity, and skills may be placed on a "major" team.

All others who show less skill will be placed on a "minor" or farm team for further training.

The writer stated her son was placed on a Minor League team that was winning — that part was true — but he was placed on a minor league team because he was not at tryouts for "major league".

She stated her boy was finishing the season with nothing. The boy was drafted by a "Major" League team before the dead line and Little League Rule VIII states: All minor League players of age are subject for Draft into the Major League. Refusal of a player to comply shall result in forfeiture of further eligibility for the current season.

If the Little League was unfair and showed no interest in children as the writer stated, her son would not have been playing baseball at all because he never tried out to see what his capabilities were.

His capabilities are far more advanced than the other players on minor teams, so it's certainly not politics, that he should be allowed to play against other children in the minor league, "it's unsafe".

DANIEL DOSS
President South Rom. L.L.

P.S. The South Romulus L.L. is proud of its program. We've only had "one" complaint out of 310 children.

Fire station dedicated

A host of Sumpter residents and dignitaries turned out for the Sumpter Township's fire station No. 2 dedication ceremonies. The station is located south of Arkona Road on Sumpter Rd. The ceremonies were held July 19 and among the 30 or more persons who participated include Clarence Hoffman (from left) township clerk, Henry Redman, former Township Administrator, Marilyn Korotney, township trustee, Robert Demski, Township

For police protection

County asks city to pay its bills

Still hopeful that Romulus' $1,020,084 overdue bill for police protection can be resolved through talks scheduled this week, Wayne County Board of Commissioners has extended the service another two months to August 27.

Commissioners, tired of waiting for the money, threatened to cut off further police protection July 15, but a motion by Commissioner Edgar Harris (Taylor) to extend the termination period to August 27 won approval at last week's Full Board session to give the county and city a "last chance" to settle the dispute over contract rates.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department provides 32 deputies to man four cars, two detectives and one youth officer to serve the city on a 24-hour, 7 days per week schedule.

According to Commissioner Edward K. Michalski, Chairman of the County's Public Safety and Judiciary Committee, Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley disputes the county's claim on two points: 1. Original payments of $136,000 per month starting in 1977 should have included administration costs and 2. That Arbitration Act 312, mandating retroactive pay for police and fire personnel back to 1977, was not the responsibility of Romulus. "The difference," Harris explained, "amounts to about $400,000."

The County's Board of Auditors maintains Romulus owes all of the contested amount and wants the money "post haste" to help alleviate the present fiscal plight of the county. "Most of the commissioners agree," Michalski said, "that Romulus is disputing the figure because it's having financial problems of its own."

The city and county negotiated their original $136,000 per month contract in 1977 and increased it July, 1979 to $142,645.00. In talks held July 8, Romulus asserted it should only be responsible for the arbitration payments back to January 1, 1978, but Michalski contends the county's contracts stipulate all increases negotiated with the unions can be passed on to communities receiving police services.

Romulus has been making timely payments of $142,645 since April, the Auditors report, but have steadfastly refused to pay any of the previous amount due until an agreeable settlement can be reached. "A meeting this Tuesday between Oakley, Samuel Turner, Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, the Auditors and attorneys will hopefully solve these differences," Harris said.

The wrath of nature

Clean up operations continued this week in the wake of the area's worst wind-storm. The storm left hundreds of trees uprooted, roofs toppled, flooded streets and millions in damages as evidenced at the Metro Cast, a small plant at 36338 Ecorse Rd. where debris from neighboring Detroit Ball Bearing is piled against its west wall. If residents are having problems cleaning up they are urged to contact the local DPW offices.

Recreation activities

Mayflower roller rink together with the Romulus Recreation Department offer rollerskating at reduced rates every Monday and Thursday from 7 to 10:00 p.m.

Starting soon, you will be skating and-or dancing to live band music instead of records.

The evening ceramics classes held every Monday at the Recreation Bldg. have ended for the summer and are scheduled to resume in September.

Any person interested in becoming a sports official for the 1981 season should contact the Recreation Dept. Clinics will be offered. The sports included will be volleyball, touch football, softball, and others.

CITY OF ROMULUS NOTICE

Please be advised that the regular meeting of the Romulus City Council scheduled for Tuesday, August 5, 1980, has been rescheduled, due to the August 5, 1980 General Primary Election, for Wednesday August 6, 1980 at 8:00 p.m. in the Romulus City Hall Council Chambers, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, MI.

Dramatic ending to convention

Presidential nominee

Ronald Reagan, the Republican Party's nominee for President, is shown with his wife, Nancy on Thursday night of last week's GOP National Convention in Detroit. The two-term governor of California from 1966-74 delivered a rousing speech, denouncing the present Democratic administration in Wash. D.C. and offering solutions of his own.

Here's looking at you

George Romney, who drew fire from feminists for his sharp attacks against the Equal Rights Amendment, is shown smiling during happy times during the recent GOP Convention in Detroit. The former governor of Michigan was an active participant in the Michigan Delegation and everyone had a good time, especially since there were no major decisions to be made except picking a running mate for Ronald Reagan. After a brief flurry of excitement over whether former President Gerald Ford would accept the Vice-Presidential nomination, Reagan announced that George Bush was his choice for that spot. U.S. Senator Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican candidate for President, (below) stirred the Republican faithful with a rousing speech denouncing the Democrats.

Do the presidential election prospects have you leaning toward "None of the Above"? Do the candidates for local office seem to be coming out of the woodwork? There is one name to watch — Richard Kaufman. "Richard Kaufman?" you say, "the name sounds familiar..."

You may recognize the name as the attorney who championed the cause of Wayne County residents and unmarried drivers against the automobile insurance companies who charged them higher rates. Attorney Kaufman also worked for years as legal advisor to the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force.

Kaufman, an honors graduate of the University of Michigan and Wayne State Law School, is a candidate for Wayne County Circuit Court in the August 5 Primary Election. He has strong feelings about the quality (or lack of quality) in the Michigan judiciary after practicing law in Wayne County for years. "Often a judge in Michigan retains his office for so many years that he ceases to be a servant of the law, and instead views the law as his servant. I believe there are strong arguments in favor of a limitation on the amount of years a person can hold judicial office."

On August 5, when you pull the lever or punch the holes on the primary election ballot, take a moment to read down the list of candidates and find the name, RICHARD C. KAUFMAN. He will make a fine judge and he deserves your vote.

Information provided and paid for by Kaufman for Circuit Court Committee, 19952 Stratford, Detroit, Michigan 48221.

Vote 'Yes' on Proposal 'A'

County government spends approximately a million dollars a day. And, from the financial tally sheet, it appears that commissioners know how to spend your and my taxes very well. Now, we didn't say they spent money wisely — we said they knew how to spend it.

How else can the laborious body explain the nearly $80 million deficit it is mired in? Aside from the fact that the county is knee-deep in debt, it is also doing so in violation of the state laws — laws that they pledged to uphold.

Because they have proven they can't manage the county, there is strong support to convene a charter commission and write a charter for what is the third largest county in the United States.

Reform definitely is needed, but some would advocate that they prefer seeing the county collapse, sink, dissipate before a scholarly crew is gathered to start and build anew. They argue that the powerful unions will maintain their stranglehold on the county with or without reform. They say the UAW — the most powerful union in the county — will not disappear with reforms and, therefore, it is hopeless to consider it in the present state of affairs.

In our opinion structural reform in the county is a dire necessity. Despite the chief opposition, reform can bring about such changes as "accountability" by commissioners, elimination of duplicative offices and reorganization.

On Tuesday, voters will have an opportunity to decide for themselves if the mechanism of reform should be put into motion. They will be confronted with Proposal A — the County Home Rule — that will appear on the primary election ballot.

That proposal reads: Shall the County of Wayne elect a charter commission for the purpose of framing and submitting to the electorate of the county a home rule charter under the constitution and laws of Michigan?

Even though we may be reluctant to say "Yes" because the reform would not necessarily mean the end of the political power structure in that county, we believe that voters should vote "Yes" — the winds of change may clear the air for a stronger county government.

About those endorsements

To endorse or not to endorse — that is the question. Or, more appropriately, who to endorse — isn't that the question most of the candidates seeking elective office want to know.

During the past few weeks, and with more frequency the last few days, there has been a constant flow of office-seeking candidates coveting each and every endorsement that can enhance their successful campaign.

They have discussed, debated and argued the issues. We have listened. Some are very honest in their bid to earn endorsements — others seem to be talking, just to be heard. They say nothing that we have not heard in the past. If elected they promise to lower taxes, streamline government, be more receptive to their constituency, adhere to "an open door policy" — you've heard it, just as we have in the past campaigns.

Endorsements should not be superficial — they should be able to help the voter decide, to make crucial decisions at crucial times.

And we feel at this time we just don't have enough information on all of the candidates to back them up with our support. We'll sit this one out — and let the voters decide.

Then, when the lines are drawn for the General Election in November which will give us ample time to get to know each and all of our local candidates, we'll have our say.

The primary is yours, and the decisions are yours. With our thumb nail sketches of the candidates we hope we have provided some insight on the candidates.

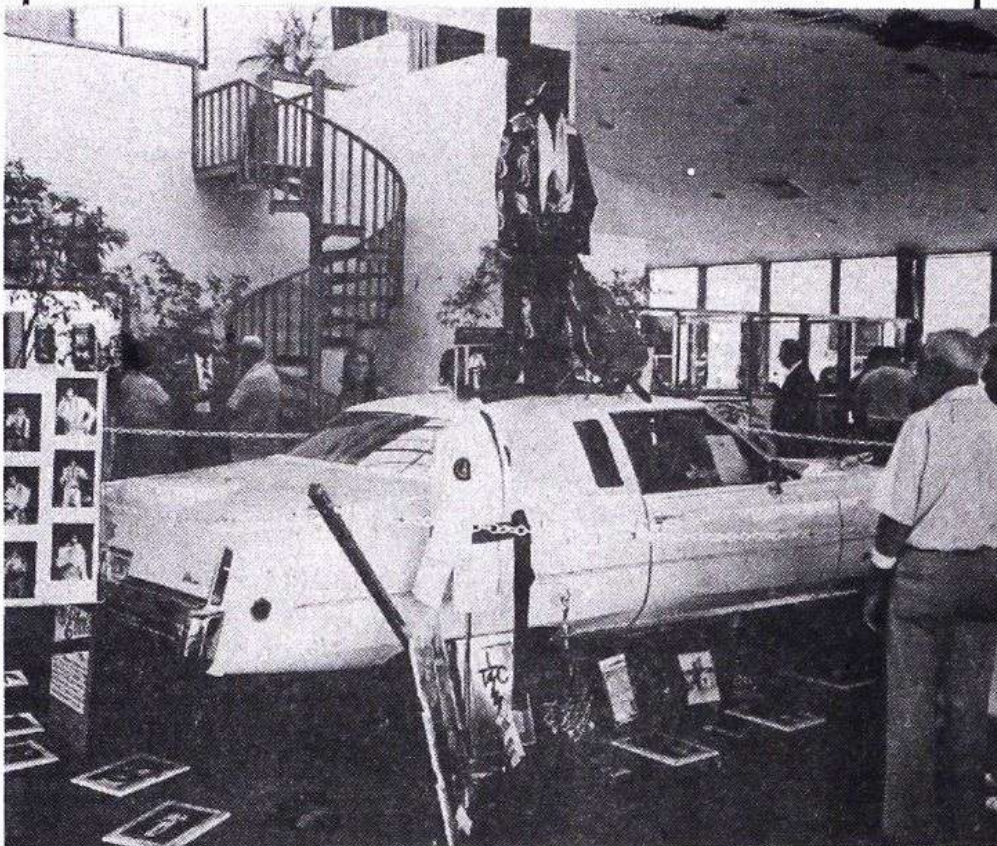

In November, we'll do more than that.

Racing bill overdue

By REP. GARY M. OWEN
(D-Ypsilanti)

Horse racing reform legislation was passed by the House before the Legislature recessed for the summer. The bill gives greater authority to the state racing commissioner by increasing the amount of fines which can be levied by track owners and horse owners and to regulate use of stimulants and depressants given to horses.

In recent years, Michigan racetracks have been plagued with security problems. Vandalism, alleged drugging of horses, accusations of racefixing, horses being released from stalls, alleged drug trafficking on the backstretch, and the fatal stabbing of a groom last summer are some of the indications of a larger problem with track safety.

Another problem is that track owners and operators have made few capital improvements of their facilities. Poor facilities and the worsening reputation of Michigan tracks have apparently contributed to declining attendance and short fields at Michigan horse races.

Michigan must compete with neighboring states for quality horses. Currently the state is at a competitive disadvantage to Illinois and Ohio in matters of track security, track facilities and purse size. The lack of good horses results in fewer good races — apparently another factor in declining attendance at Michigan tracks.

The reform bill clarifies and expands the powers of the racing commissioner and establishes race meeting license (licenses issued to racing associations specifying dates of races) requirements. The commissioner could amend or revoke a meeting license and reallocate the cancelled racing dates.

New provisions would seek to increase track safety and security by directing the commissioner to establish standards for tracks, prohibiting the commissioner from issuing occupational licenses to persons recently convicted of felonies or misdemeanors related to the person's ability to serve the public and requiring applicants for an occupational license to consent to personal inspections.

New regulations on drugs and medications that could be administered to race horses would also be regulated. Equine stimulants and depressants would be prohibited, and other drugs could be used only when authorized by the racing commissioner. Conspiracy to use or the use of an unauthorized drug would be a felony, punishable by a maximum fine of $10,000 and/or up to five years in prison.

The bill would also prohibit any foreign substance from being administered to a horse within 24 hours prior to a race, and the presence of such a foreign substance in a horse's system would be prima facie evidence of trainer negligence.

Track owners would be required to put some of their gross take from betting into capital improvement projects. One and one-half percent of racing revenue would be used to create a fund to be distributed to Michigan State University's colleges of veterinary medicine and agriculture for equine research and extension programs.

The bill is designed to attract people back to the state tracks and increase betting revenues. There was some concern in the Legislature that the state cannot afford to pay for the bill's provisions, but new racing attractions and changes in tax collections will make the bill pay for itself.

EDITOR — I would like to compliment Delores Temple (Treasurer, Van Buren School Board). She has been a most energetic, open and dedicated official who served both the Administration of schools and Citizenry well...along sometimes a very difficult path.

It goes without saying in these precarious times, that being School Board Treasurer is not always the greatest job as far as winning popularity contests, but looking at the fact that for the first time in 8 years the projections show our school is Not in a Deficit Position...this leads me to believe that knowledgeable and diligent action is needed. Realize also, that total Board participation and leadership is necessary to effect this change.

With the above in mind, I could not let the year end go by without noting — Job well Done Message to the supportive people of this community. I hope our residents will support newly elected School Board Treasurer Bob Cook. It will make 1980-81 a successful school year.

EDITOR — On behalf of the Senior Citizens of Van Buren Township we urge you to support the use of Town owned property for a Senior Citizen high-rise apartment and entertainment complex.

The property is located adjacent to the entrance of the Van Buren Town Park and fronting on the I-94 Service Drive. It has been cleared and approved by the state authorities for the use requested.

EDITOR — I John Barnette regret having to announce that I am no longer seeking the position of Supervisor because of business and personal reasons, although I am still very much concerned with the problems and welfare of the people of Canton.

There are still four other candidates running for this position. But being the true Democrat that I am, I can not support a Republican. Out of the other three candidates left, two of them are lawyers and are presently holding positions in Canton. They made no campaign promises during the last election, and they did just that — nothing. And I have heard no campaign promises again election. Do we pay them 4 more years for doing nothing?

Make your own decisions and VOTE WISELY.

EDITOR — I have been a longtime resident of Romulus. I read about the plans for a new plant in your paper. I think this would bring in a lot of revenue for the city and also create many new jobs.

The project I am talking about is Detroit Recovery Products to be located on that dump at Ecorse Road, west of the C & O R.R. That land can't be used for anything else — definitely not new housing as suggested by Mr. Mahalak. I am in favor of going forward — not treading water until we all go under! We need new life in Romulus!

The trip "stunk"

By TOM MOORADIAN
Acting Managing Editor

Detroit Recovery's trip to Belleville, Maryland "stunk".

And, ironically, the company's officials wanted the 23 persons who accepted their invitation to take the trip to that city to get a whiff of what they plan to do.

What Detoro wants is to build a $13.5 million fertilizer plant in Romulus to dispose of all of that sludge which Detroit is — or was — dumping out in Canton, Van Buren, Wayne and Sumpter Township.

Now, before anyone starts knocking Detroit for what it has to do, remember you and I — and some other 73 communities — contribute to that sludge.

And now that the courts have ordered Detroit, namely, the Detroit Water Board, to clean up its act, people are working for solutions to a problem that has been with us since the beginning of mankind, and probably before.

Beltsville, thanks to the U.S. Agriculture Department, is working on a solution that the people at Detroit want to duplicate on a bigger scale in Romulus. They plan to build a plant on a 128-acre parcel of land in Romulus, located west of the C & O Railroad and south of Ecorse Road.

Right now on that parcel of land there's a dump.

And, like one resident puts it in a Letter to the Editor: "Anything is better than the dump we have there now."

That may be true.

Also, Detoro and its president, Ken Pierceall, made sure he knew what Romulus officials such as councilmen Ed Rush, Fred Block, Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, Gary Bingamen, president of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce were getting into. He didn't conceal anything from him or the 15 others or myself.

Pierceall couldn't even if he tried. The odor was there for all of us.

And it was a nauseating odor. No doubt about it. Few came away from the site in Beltsville with smiles on their faces. They were concerned and those concerns obviously will be expressed at subsequent hearings.

But, I am convinced it isn't the odor that will doom or determine the outcome of Council's decision to build or not to permit to be build the proposed plant.

If I were a councilman I would like to know where Pierceall and his group are getting their money. Who is really financing this plant?

Rumors have it that the Detroit Water Board will float bonds to finance the construction and Detoro will eventually pay back the money.

Rumors have it that after the debt is paid off, the plant will revert back to the Detroit Water Board. That will obviously leave a big hole in the city's budget. Getting taxes from a private enterprise — which Detoro is — isn't the same when you're dealing with a governmental entity which the Water Board also happens to be.

Will Romulus be holding the bag at the end of this deal?

And there is yet another question I would ask if I were a Romulus councilman — are Detoro officials building the plant for fertilizing or are they in the U-Haul business?

The story goes that Detroit has thousands of tons of sludge to give away and is willing to pay between $35 to $45 per wet ton to have it hauled off into some landfill.

Council should make it clear that it needs to know if Detoro means Detroit Transportation System or Detroit Recovery.

Ask Patricia Cullin, Van Buren Township supervisor, what happened a couple of days ago when a truck carrying sludge actually dumped some of its cargo prematurely.

The residents came out fighting — and it wasn't because they got mud in their eyes.

Seems Gil Eldrich is the hero of Adam's Circle. The retired firefighter took on the renegade storm that blew in here two weeks ago and helped residents by checking for downed wires, keeping children out of the flooded streets and clearing branches and trees for those who needed aid.

"Gil is our hero," a resident of the street said. "We're lucky to have such people in our city and on our street."

Overeating is a sickness that many Americans enjoy...

By GLENN SMITH, R.D.
Head Dietitian
Wayne County General Hospital

If you were asked to name the most prevalent sickness today among American adults, you might guess the common cold — and you would be wrong. The right answer is a colorful medical term, Hyperphagia with Bulimia, which means overeating due to undisciplined appetite.

It is a sickness. And the average American has it.

In fact, it is so widespread that some medical authorities speak in terms of it being an epidemic.

Being overweight is one of the prime factors increasing a person's risk of heart attack. Most authorities believe, and some studies have proven, that sudden death due to heart attack and episodes of heart pain, associated with exertion, are both closely linked to being overweight.

One need not be extremely overweight, but any appreciable accumulation over the average for one's age and height increases organ and muscle strain. (Remember, your heart is a major organ composed of muscle tissue.)

There is no question that sensible eating habits can keep you at your correct weight and help you avoid heart attack, diabetes, and many other complications that are related to obesity.

You may want to argue with the facts, and indeed some have tried; but they rarely live long enough to prove their theories. You may not know all the risk factors, but one fact remains: You do know what you eat and how much you are eating.

Take time out to refer to the chart below. Are you part of our national epidemic? Be serious with yourself — start today! Learn good eating habits — and stick to them!

EDITOR — Rats! It is an ugly word and an ugly animal. I have always been under the impression, if you kept your home and yard clean, you would not have rats. I was wrong.

Imagine my terror, watching my small child play in his own back yard, and he brought me a dead rat. The scene was repeated the next day in my neighbors yard.

In two days period, we saw two live rats in our yards also. I called city hall and the animal warden came to my home. I live in a concerned neighborhood, and six neighbors came over to listen to the advice of the animal warden. We were all enlightened on the facts about rats. It is scary.

We are advised that you can not get rid of rats, however, they can be controlled in an area with the cooperation of ALL the neighbors. There are six families that have agreed to go house to house in our area and inform all of the rat problem.

We are going to have an open meeting at Hubbard Park on Hubbard off of Palmer on July 31st at 7 p.m. Our animal warden will be present to explain what each individual can do to help eliminate the problem. If you can't attend the meeting, literature is available at the health dept. free.

I am writing this letter, hoping that each reader will take a look at his own dwelling and stop the food supply for the rats. It is a very real problem in the cities of Wayne and Westland. I am sure we don't want our cities overrun with these nasty and dangerous animals.

Sincerely,
SHARON L. LAUTNER
Westland

EDITOR — Have you ever looked at an organization chart for Wayne County? It might be more aptly described as a disorganization chart. It is almost impossible to decide who is responsible to whom — a headless maze of commissions, departments, and elected and appointed officials, no executive to coordinate functions, and a 27-member board of commissioners with both legislative and executive duties.

It's no wonder everybody, including the governor and the state legislature, says something has to be done about it.

That something would be the authorization of a charter commission. Such a commission could untangle the lines of authority and provide for a county executive. Can you imagine a city without a mayor-manager or a state without a governor?

The county spends a million dollars a day. That's big business. We can get a start on receiving value for our tax money by voting YES for a charter commission on August 5. The League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novi urges your support of County Home Rule Proposal A on the August 5 ballot.

The League of Women Voters is a national nonpartisan organization established sixty years ago to encourage citizen participation in government. It never supports nor opposes any political party or candidate. The League does support or oppose issues after careful study.

EDITOR — Concerning the proposal to use Merdreds dump as the site for a sludge operation, I think it would be more beneficial to the city to have a controlled operation running there than to keep the mess that we have now.

Romulus should start welcoming new industries that not only benefit us with taxes, but creates more jobs and improves the appearances of the city.

I say open the door to Detroit, and "Dump" Merdrek.

EDITOR — The dedicated and high spirited civic organizations and church groups that worked on the 1980 Belleville Strawberry Festival deserve special recognition for their supreme efforts in making this year's festival the best ever. The great public response to this year's event is overwhelming testimony to the quantity of events and quality of fun offered to all Southeastern Michigan.

I know I speak for many others when I say, "Thank you to all the participating citizens for representing this community so well."

EDITOR — I would personally like to thank the citizens of Westland for their patience and generosity during the emergency situation on July 16, 1980 when most of the City of Westland suffered a power outage.

The citizens concern for the officers working traffic and other emergency duties was very gratifying. Many citizens brought ice water and pop to the offices and offered food as well.

It is times such as this that makes me very proud to be associated with THE GOOD PEOPLE OF WESTLAND.

WILLIAM L. RECHLIN,

Westland Police Department

EDITOR — We wish to thank Canton Township for having a place to put our freezer food and to Kroger's for supplying the Refrigerator truck.

Although we are Westland residents, they were very courteous to us. Final thanks to the young men who were on duty Monday, July 21st around noon, they did a good job finding our boxes on such a hot day. Thanks so much.

MR. AND MRS. W. F. GREEN

EDITOR — Hats off and many many thanks to the people from the Romulus Central Business District. You really did your best to put on a great show.

Shame on Mayor William Oakley and the city officials. We have had two Air Fairs in a little over a month in Romulus, and you people could have shown your faces. When the Friends of the Library had a five-day show, where were the city officials?

Jay Young (City's public relations director) showed up with his camera — Minus film. He promised to return and take pictures of the Senior Citizens square dance. Of course no show.

(So we come to the Sidewalk Sales. Everyone this week has been upset due to the storm. This outing was needed by all. So where were the people from City Hall? Oh yes, Jay Young showed up Tuesday night after the tables were down and everyone was leaving for home.

Again, no camera, no pictures, no story about the local artists. Why?

What has Romulus done for the local people to help them out after the storm? Very little, if anything. Sure does make a few of us wonder why we stay in Romulus. The city officials don't seem to want us.

EDITOR — Thank you for the newspaper coverage of your paper. It has again been a valuable support to the Girl Scout program in this community. Newspaper coverage plays an important role in the visibility of Girl Scouting in the community and demonstrates the value it brings to girls as they mature into adult life.

It is through continued support such as yours that the image and activities of Girl Scout reaches the community. This support aids Huron Valley in offering Girl Scouting to girls of all ages and background.

Again, thank you for your continued support. The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council is a United Way Agency.

EDITOR — As citizens of Inkster, my family thinks that the employees of Detroit Edison should be commended for their marvelous performance of restoring the electrical power to the residents, businesses, and city buildings in our city and the surrounding areas.

Our neighborhood was without electrical power for 91-hours, however we are cognizant that some local residents as well as some residents for a longer period of time—some of the delays were due to transformer complications.

Although we are very much aware of the fears, inconveniences, and expenses incurred by our senior citizens who live alone, of the food deterioration in refrigerators and freezers of residents and businesses, and of the experience of worshipping in church without electrical power, we must applaud our city employees, especially our Mayor William Daniels and city manager, Wylie Williams for their tremendous efforts in getting the Edison crews into our city as early as Thursday.

We will conclude with a statement made by our daughter concerning the wind storm, "The large trees were uprooted while the small trees remained in tact, God is trying to get a message to somebody."

EDITOR — I would like to compliment our public works cement crew on a fine job they did on Winifred & Avon Street curb.

I heard there is a list of people that is ready to gripe and criticize but let me say: "Good work, men" and Wayne, "thank you".

EDITOR — The rescheduled Belleville area Local Pitch, Hit and Run Competition held recently at the Beck Road Little League Diamonds was a great success.

This was due to the combined efforts of the many parents who volunteered. I feel the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation could have done more to help make this a successful contest.

I feel it was necessary to clarify for the record and give credit where credit is due to those people who did help; Richard Estermyer, Joe Wyatt, Hank Konot, Terry Cowger, Wayne Justin, Sherman Smith, Sam Overholt, Lee Lewis, Ron Stark, Russell Utt, Dave Robinson, Bill Lange, Kenneth Schiefelbein, Anita Cowger, Mary Lou Lucas and Jeri Utt.

If I missed a name, let me apologize for the oversight.

By DONNA RAE LYON

Your July 9, 1980 issue carried "A Councilwoman's Concerns" as well as "The Mayor's Response". Because I heard the "response" at the City Council meeting on June 23, I feel the cable issue pertains to what the Mayor wants rather than what Westland needs. Why doesn't the Mayor simply answer the questions Mrs. Neal asks rather than be so evasive. I feel the Mayor issued a retort more than a response. I would hope he would feel secure enough about what he is doing as to correctness, propriety, and thoroughness that he would respond with aplomb rather than crudeness as he did at the meeting. In relation to the published letters, for example, I noted as follows:

o According to the Mayor, it appears to me that he obviously agrees with Mrs. Neal; that the public notice was sent to only franchise companies. However, he goes on at great length to explain that it is up to other responsible companies to catch the public notice via assorted publications. Were the notices mailed only to those companies that would not respond and thereby leaving the door open to only Omnicom?

o May 1, 1980 to May 12, 1980 accounts for eight working days, which the Mayor claims in enough time to decide if they want to bid. I suppose it would depend on your personal reasons for wanting the bid procedure closed, wouldn't it? Doesn't it really depend upon how vague and perhaps misleading the public notice was to the reader? An undated notice at that!

o Three weeks time is ample for a company that is truly interested to prepare a bid. At the above mentioned City Council Meeting, I heard two individuals who represented two separate cable TV companies state that if the request for bid had been more definite as to the lease-purchase intent, their companies would have bid. (After the two gentlemen left the meeting, Council and Mayor contradicted what the two men had said.)

o The Mayor's statement is correct as far as he went. However, why weren't companies who build systems to sell (like R.C.A., Jerrold, Magnavox, Secore, Sylvania, or U.S. Cablevision) sent a copy of the public notice, mailed to a proper address, for a prompt reply? Is a 15 cents stamp too much to pay for an 8 million dollar project (Phase I)? The Mayor does not answer the question.

o Omnicom is correctly referred to as a young company, having never built a cable TV system. The Mayor deviates to discussion of Capitol Cities Communication who deals with trade publications, radio broadcasting and TV programming. They do hope to target cable TV as a new enterprise for their corporation during 1980. Why is the Mayor so willing to spend $8 million (Phase I of three Phases) without an explicit request for bid and a proper number (I would believe at least three) of responses? How does the Mayor know Omnicom will do an excellent job since either Omnicom nor Capitol Cities has built a cable TV system.

o Shame on Mrs. Neal. She has found a way to possibly save the City 1 or 2 million dollars. Why doesn't Mayor urge our Council to honestly look into the issue?

o Security Signals: who really wants them? When we've paid the managing fee and the lease-purchase payment on basic cable, will there be enough money to provide security? Place it on the ballot for a vote of the people? After all, whether you remain with us or not Mr. Mayor, Westland citizens will be on the hook for payments for at least 10 years.

o You state, Mr. Mayor, that Mrs. Neal's recommendation would allow a company to build the system, get their profit and, then, leave us to live with what they had built. I feel what is happening now is not much different, but at greater cost. Also, are you inferring that your City Council would be witless enough to enter into any contract which would not have "built in guarantees" to protect Westland? Or, are you inferring that the local people of Westland wouldn't have the ability to be trained to operate the cable equipment and the security computer?

o You said cutting costs is a priority but it comes after your responsibility to protect people's lives and property. How many lives do you protect with 40 channels of programs and movies? How many policemen and firemen can you hire for $8 million? I would think cutting costs is your responsibility guarantee of a "fail safe" system?

o Mr. Mayor, you did not comment on who did the research for two years. o Would you please advise who was your professional consultant for the economic survey, system design, equipment recommendation, and best material to use? Who advised the preparation of the request for bid, how to write the specifications (RFP) on cable Phase I (of three Phases)? Omnicom is too new a company to have given you this information two years ago.

o Because you have stated that the planning and preparation is completed, Mr. Mayor, would you please make public your consultant's report and recommendations? Or, does that only mean you have closed the door on all of us? Does it mean that you don't want to hear additional, good and perhaps better, information. Are you moving too fast? Are you concerned that what you may hear may "dump" the project altogether?

o Sir, you say it is time to move ahead. However, it appears that you haven't been "too thorough", so far, in your research of companies and all that they have to offer. Why are we moving ahead so quickly?

Unjustified delays, you say, will add nothing except more cost. o Nevertheless, you do not acknowledge the justified delay of finding out if Westland citizen want the system at all, or, for that matter, need a computer cop. Put it on the ballot for the people to decide. After all, Channel 20 is a much cheaper proposition if you want to watch movies; at least until the City can afford to make a available the home security system.

o Mr. Mayor your letter indicates it is time to move ahead. I ask you, why? I believe it is time to reconsider, re-evaluate, re-bid with a definitive request for bid, and place it on the ballot for a vote from the people.

Reflections

When a son begins flying a jet

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I had just dipped my burning body into the cool waters of the swimming pool when a loud shout came skimming across to me. "Hey, Joyce, how's George (our dog)?"

Letting the cool water swirl about me, I swam over to my questioner who had dipped one toe into the wetness and was still shivering.

"He's fine," I answered, watching with fascination as she dipped another toe into the coolness. "He's in Mississippi with my kid who claims to be his master. He just solo'ed a jet last week, my kid that is."

"Isn't that the kid who could fix a dropped dishwasher and make music come out of it, and the kid who got his teeth brushed when he fixed the toaster?"

"The very same," I answered with a great deal of smugness.

"My Gosh — does the Air Force know about his propensity of making something come out of nothing?"

Naturally I huffed and puffed a bit over this and said in a voice matching the coolness of the water, "I don't think a dishwasher or a toaster are exactly nothing."

"Well, let's hope he doesn't make a nothing out of something," she smirked. That's when I pushed her in the pool, forgetting momentarily that she couldn't swim.

Turning over on my back I floated the length of the pool thinking about that boy of mine who might be, at that very moment, zooming through the clouds in his plane.

"He'll probably redesign the knobs and things on that jet," I told his father later.

"They don't have knobs and things on jets," his father answered from the sports page. "Watson won the British Open."

"Well, he'll probably redesign the structure of the whole jet."

"Probably," his father answered.

I threw a sofa cushion at him and went out in the kitchen where I turned on the dishwasher which sang "Beautiful Dreamer." There wasn't an electrical appliance in that kitchen that hadn't known the gentle touch of the long, nimble fingers of my jet-flying son.

Come to think of it, there wasn't anything in the entire house that hadn't been redesigned, or restructured by that quick-thinking, nimble-fingered kid. I looked up at the clock which he had fixed so that time would stand still, and I wished for a moment that time really had stood still about the time he adopted George (our dog), and right after he had fixed the dishwasher.

My attention was called to the sky outside the window where a long, straight jet stream was forming. The tiny dot producing that stream was barely visible to the eye, but I knew that inside that dot was another mother's son.

"God bless you," I whispered after the plane which was now invisible, and God bless my laughing, fair-haired, quick thinking, nimble fingered son, who will always be happy as long as his head is in the clouds.

Ask Carol Premo

Drop-in guests, are they welcomed?

By CAROL PREMO, Ph.D.

Dear Carol,

I have a problem that has proven insoluble for me. Perhaps a different perspective could help.

I have a problem with drop-in guests, maybe I am old fashioned and stuffy, but I resent people arbitrarily showing up. I cannot plan work-play, etc. with perpetual open houses (we seem to have these).

I understand about the beauty and wonder of spontaneity and freedom. I unfortunately have none. The presence of guests basically predetermines activities. At the end of some weekends I am more behind in my basic household tasks than I was on Friday (and even further behind on my favorite activities).

By and large my guests are cooperative and helpful, they bring food, help straighten up, etc. That is not really the problem. The problem is not knowing they are coming, not being able to schedule them all together on a Saturday, leaving Sunday free for peace, quiet and personal activities.

I realize my past acquaintances will count against me in making any radical changes, but I am reaching the end of my coping abilities.

HELP!

Dear Help,

People who drop in unannounced, unexpected, uninvited, deserve what they get. If you have the time, desire or inclination for company, invite them in and enjoy. If not, be assertive enough not to permit your plans to be interrupted.

For all those readers out there who believe drop ins are welcome, here is proof that they are not always welcomed with open arms and that the smiles they see may be very strained. Better to call than to infringe on someone and make a fool of yourself.

DEAR CAROL,

I can't stop eating. I need to lose weight and go right on eating. As I am writing I am finishing a bowl of ice cream. I can't seem to find my willpower. What concerns me is that I never used to be this way and the last couple of months I have been out of control. What should I do?

Fat and Getting Fatter

Dear Fat,

I receive a lot of questions regarding being too fat or eating too much and personally feel that it is a serious problem facing many people today. The reasons behind compulsive eating are numerous: anger, frustration, anxiety, avoidance, poor self esteem, just to name a few.

Overeaters Anonymous is an excellent organization which deals very effectively with these problems. They offer support and guidance on a continuing basis. I suggest you call them. You can find the one nearest you listed in the telephone directory.

Further, it is important to find out what is causing the compulsion, get to the bottom of it and get rid of it. If O.A. does not offer enough insight into the dynamics of the problem, seek a qualified therapist you can talk to while you continue to attend O.A. meetings. It is a long hard road but can be done and I wish you luck!

Dear Carol,

I buy a newspaper at work every morning to read on my lunch break. Recently my boss' boss has started asking to borrow my newspaper. I don't mind people reading the newspaper, but doing the crossword and other word puzzles too? I really enjoy doing the puzzles myself. How do I let her know this without hurting her feelings.

PUZ-plexed

Dear Puzplexed,

Although the urge for a 1001 puns come to mind with your signature, I shall just cross them out and answer your puzzling question. Actually, the solution might be quite simple.

Tell your boss you will be glad to loan out your paper when you have finished. Let him/her know you like working puzzles and haven't finished. If you choose, prior to relinquishing the paper, remove the section of interest. Just a word of caution, however, use diplomacy or your boss' boss may decide newspapers are a "no no" at work.

8. The cost of repairs and clean-up activities.

9. The amount of any insurance or other compensation received or expected to be received, including the value of repairs, restoration, and clean-up provided without cost by disaster relief agencies, or others.

Newspaper articles and photographs of the damaged property can be very helpful in substantiating the loss. If possible, such photographs should be taken before clean-up. All other related costs should be carefully preserved as well. Previously filed tax returns are another valuable source of information. Although accumulating the required information may seem burdensome, it is well worth the effort. Casualty loss deductions are frequently reduced or disallowed upon examination, not because of a loss is questioned, but because the taxpayer cannot adequately substantiate the amount of loss.

Ms. Shatzman cited other tax consequences of a casualty. For example, insurance proceeds to cover living expenses during evacuation are excluded from gross income. Also, cash gifts and disaster relief such as food, medical supplies, etc., do not reduce the amount of casualty loss deduction, nor do such items represent taxable income.

And there would be additional tax advantages if President Carter declares the affected counties a disaster area.

To help the public understand the proper tax treatment of their losses resulting from this unfortunate event, the Detroit office of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. is preparing an in-depth letter which will be available July 28th. It can be obtained by sending a postcard

Strike up the band

More than 100 students from 25 Michigan high school marching bands, including Belleville's Pat Clark, Holly Fitch, and Beth Thompson will participate in the "Seminar 80" marching clinic from Tuesday, July 29 to Friday, Aug. 1, on the campus of Western Michigan University.

Sponsored jointly by the School of Music and the WMU Bronco Marching Band, the clinic will offer expert instruction to students from the flag and rifle divisions of high school bands. Performance techniques will be taught by two guest instructors—Tom Huhn of Danville, Va. and Barbara Morton Walter of Eugene, Ore. Coordinator for the clinic is Gregory Telford, WMU marching band director.

During the four-day clinic, students will study fundamentals, manual-of-arms, theory, marching and maneuvering, individual and group routines, judging criteria, etiquette, and parade work.

CPR class scheduled at WCGH

Wayne County General Hospital is offering a free 9-hour cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) class for all interested individuals.

The class will consist of supervised training in one- and two-person CPR, infant resuscitation, and assisting the choking victim. With the successful completion of the 9 hours, you will receive a certification card.

Classes will begin at 7 p.m. each evening on August 4, 5, and 6 at the Hospital located at 2345 Merriman Road, Westland.

To enroll or to receive further information, contact Fern Vining or Elaine Sanneske at 274-3000, extension 6214.

City Championship is 'wide open'

Area golfers to take on familiar Fellows' Creek

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Who will usurp the golf crown that Wayne's Tom Piscopink has owned for the last three years?

Piscopink, who has dominated the City Golf Championships for the past four years, has not checked in for the annual classic which pits some of the finest golfers in Western Wayne County.

"No, we haven't heard from Tom yet," said Bill Hawley, tournament manager. "But, if I know him he'll wait until the last minute then walk up and present his entry blank."

"If he's a 'no show' this year, then the tournament should be an especially interesting one. From a glance at the entries, I know that there will be a lot of excellent golfers in the field."

The tournament will be staged over the weekend, Saturday and Sunday at Fellows Creek Golf Course. The 18-hole, less than 7,000 yard layout is located at 2936 Lotz Road in Canton Township.

The 36-hole, two-day affair is set up to determine the city champions for the cities of Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Garden City and Canton Township. The tournament will also determine the make up of 5-men city teams who will compete in the Michigan Parks and Recreation Department's state tournament.

In its 21st year, the championships call out the talented and the novice. There are flight competitions, when numbers warrant it, for each of the cities. Golfers who do not make the break for the championship flights, compete for trophies in other flights. Trophies will be awarded to the first three finishers in each of the

Although the Fellows Creek course is not too long and is in excellent condition because of early season rains, there are still a few holes that will test the competitors this weekend. The 405-yard, par 4 second hole is guarded by a creek about 30 yards in front of the green, and a large tree hides the left side of the green, making it necessary to come in from the right side.

The 475-yard, par 5 third hole is not long but a host of trees lines the right rough all the way to the green and more trees and an out-of-bounds fence runs the full distance of the fairway on the left side to penalize those who stray.

The 355-yard, par 4 ninth hole seems easy, but a long sloping hill

Fred Junior Block can be a very intimidating person. And not because of his 6-2, 200-plus frame that once slapped a softball around the diamonds in the county and state.

"Junior", as he is called by his friends and colleagues, is a warehouse of sports information. And he can rattle off stats faster than a computer can blink.

Block can tell you stories about Fred Gladding, ex-Tiger pitcher, of the up-and-downs of prep coaches and teams and players. He can go on and on and, unfortunately, you have to nod in agreement because you can't offer evidence to the contrary.

Amid the present maelstrom of controversy on whom to blame for the break-down of coach-athlete, teacher-student communications, Block will offer: "That kids are spoiled today. They have money, cars and everything to satisfy their whims. During our youth we didn't have the things they do today."

"We worked farming the land — then played baseball. Hell, we would play anyone or everyone who could put a team together. Today our kids think about buying cars and taking off. They don't really enjoy youth."

"Athletics are a piecemeal thing to them — they squeeze it in, but if a coach puts pressure on them, they'll take off. And you'll find that on every level," Block said.

Despite popular opinion to the contrary Block also doesn't feel that today's prep athlete is better than his counterpart of a decade or two ago. "I don't think the kids of today could stand a chance against some of the athletes I grew up with."

And wonder what the young athletes of today would have to say about that.

The classic — it's traditional

Dwarfed by a tornado-like storm and an unprecedented earthquake tremor, the field is gathering for our 21st City Championship Golf Tournament. Last Friday when we left our office there were 20 entries — on Monday when we returned there were more than sixty. Before Tuesday night there will be more than 100 golfers ready to play.

It is a remarkable feat of organization how this summer classic has become a tradition with our area amateur golfers. Although I am an observer and not a participant, it's interesting how people like Bill Hawley, the tournament manager, and Bill Whitworth, his assistant, and members of the parks and recreation departments in the cities of Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Garden City and Canton Township manage to put this thing over each year.

I personally feel the reason why this tournament is so successful with our golfers is that in its modest beginning it stressed quantity not quality. It brought together those who were excellent golfers and those who were beginners. Those beginners are now pretty darn good golfers.

Twenty years is a pretty long time to have a continuous tournament and I began wondering about the past, so I asked Nasim Lockhandwala, a student who was assigned to the newspaper through the auspices of the Summer Career Program to do a bit of research.

Nasim went back twenty years and came up with the following chart — Here are the past champions of the City Golf Championships:

Year	Medalist	Year	Medalist
1960	Tom Wilmot	1971	Ted Jawor Jr.
1961	Al Whited	1972	Claude Johnson

At Indiana zone championships

Young wrestler strikes gold

Westlander Danny Schimansky is sporting a gold medal that he won in the AAU Great Lakes Zone Nationals Greco-Roman wrestling competitions recently.

*Schimansky, a 12-year-old student who recently completed Madison Elementary School, will be competing for Stevenson Junior High this fall.

A wrestler since he turned eight, Danny has won 26 gold medals thus far this year and also has two silvers and one bronze medal.

In the zone nationals held in Indianapolis, Schimansky competed as a 90-pounder.

Coached by his father, George, the young wrestler also strolled off with a first place at AAU state this year as a 90-pounder and was the top performer at 86 pounds at the Southeastern Michigan Amateur Age Group Tournament.

Confident that someday he'll be a state high school champ, when asked about the state tournament and prep wrestlers, Danny replied: "Although I know some of the high school wrestlers, I really don't have any idols — but someday I'm going to win a state title."

Danny didn't compete in the nationals because of finances, said his father.

"It cost us about $600 to compete in the zone finals," said Danny's father, "it would have cost us approximately $1,200 to travel to Nebraska for the nationals — we just couldn't afford that kind of trip."

Basic mat problems

Wayne-Westland wrestlers helped solve some of their basic mat problems before the high school season gets underway by taking part in a clinic staged at Keystone Junior College in La Plume, Pa. (near Scranton). The clinic emphasized individual attention on wrestling skills and a positive, winning at-

Wayne, Romulus All-Stars split

You can't blame Wayne for not wanting to play the role of perfect hosts when Romulus' All-Stars invaded the city last week.

Wayne dropped a one-sided 17-8 game to the Romulus Division B All-Stars and nearly gave away the Division A game. A five-run last of the eighth rally saved them and sealed an 8-7 victory for the hosts.

Romulus got to losing pitcher Barb Smith, who lasted four innings, for three runs in the first inning of the "B" game, but Smith's teammates were quick to get those runs plus one back in that same inning.

But it was all for naught as Romulus, behind the power of Shelly Anderson, Bev Hobson, Jeannine Zilka struck back and scored two runs in the fourth and sixth, three in the third and erupted for seven runs in the eighth to win the game.

Leda Moore laced a double, while Sandy Seamna, Joyce Taylor and Roxanne Covert each had run-scoring singles for the losers. Anderson homered, Hobson and Zilka each had two hits for Romulus.

In the duel for the "A" Division title, Renee Burnie delivered a run-scoring single in the bottom of the eighth to win it for Wayne. Romulus enjoyed a 7-3 edge going into that decisive inning.

Burnie and Cayle Martell teamed up on the mound for Wayne. Martell pitched four innings, allowed four runs and seven hits, while Burnie also pitched the last four frames, gave up three runs and five hits.

Romulus used three hurlers — Gloria Cassey, Audrey Johnson and Janis Coleman. Terria Gray accounted for three of the 12 Romulus hits. Janeal Eberline connected for two singles. Gray, Eberline and Cassey each had RBIs.

While others burn, Rocco's fiddles

While others burn in their respective divisions, unbeaten Rocco's fiddles around and watches the rest of Westland Class C men's softball clubs struggle for playoff berths. Rocco's has a commanding three-game lead in its league and has strung together 11 consecutive victories. Unlike the Red and Blue Divisions in Class B, the Class C green leader is well on its way to a perfect season.

Over in the Blue Division, Leo Calhoun has a narrow half-game edge over Jake's Lounge and Golf-A Tron which are jammed in the second place spot with 8-3 records. Calhoun's has won eight of its 10 games.

Johnnies Union "76" kept its slim title hopes alive with an 8-8 victory over Silverman's Warriors. Greg Piscopink and Rick Sharp supported winning pitcher Don Yanik with three hits each, while John Bates sliced a single and double for the winners.

Don Dumouchelle led the losers, knocking in three runs with three hits. Tim Dumouchelle had a pair of singles while Lonnie Ruthig banged out a couple of two-baggers. John Hughes was tagged with the loss.

Westland Party Store struck for 10 runs in the first two innings to put down Oak Lanes 14-5 behind winning pitcher Bill Fuller's seven-hitter. Fuller helped his cause with a pair of singles, a double, triple and three RBIs. Jim Dedes chipped in four hits and Kent Herbert collected three off of loser Dale Juricisin.

Jeff Gillespie drilled the lone homer in the game. He also singled. Stu Bradke and Carl Glaser each drove in Oak Lanes runs with singles.

Swain Industries weakened in the middle innings and bowed to Westland Florist 16-6 in the final meeting between these two Blue teams. Joe Cooley, the winner, gave up 12 hits, including a double and single to Ernie White and two hits apiece to Keith Bingeman and Stan Britton.

Larry Scheffer, who had three hits, and Dan Parker, who had two, both hit homers off of loser Bob Dehart. Dehart also gave up two hits to Gordie Tergison.

Leo Calhoun managed to shake off a stubborn seventh place Tridata Systems' club 13-12 in a game called because of the time limit. Tridata rallied for six runs in the sixth and led by one when the front-runners roared back with two decisive runs in that inning.

Nemo's gets a scare

Although they have a two-game cushion on top of the Class A men's slo-pitch softball standings, Capt. Nemo's remains in a precarious position in the race for the Romulus championship.

Nemo's eked out an 8-6 victory over sixth place Bates & Sons who scored four runs in the last inning to give the front-runners a scare. Nemo's lost to Bingamen's later in the week.

Kevin Christensen had four singles for the Nemo's against Bates.

Nemo's has won 15 of its 18 games and has a two-game edge on second place Joni's Hangar and Bingamen's who have 13-5 records.

Joni's remained very much alive in the race with an easy 17-2 shellacking of Michigan Bell. The game was never in doubt after Joni's put nine runs on the scoreboard in the fifth inning.

Steve Patterson was the winning pitcher, while Frank Hargrove took the loss.

In a crucial game to determine a playoff berth, Belleville Die defeated Michigan Contractors 8-6 to cling to fourth place — the final playoff spot.

It appeared as if the Contractors would run away with this one as they tallied six runs in the first inning, but they blew a 6-1 lead. Pitcher Rick Kokila held the losers to three hits the rest of the way. Mike Tolbert scored the decisive runs thanks to an infield miscue.

Bingamen Agency turned back Hal's Market as Gary Bowman and Jerry Holbrook each hammered homers. Rick Britz led the losers, blasting a circuit clout and a single. Steve Patterson turned in a one-hitter as Joni's Hangar crushed Hal's 19-2. Gary Truskowski laced three hits for the winners.

In other Class A action, Michigan Contractors scored four runs in the fifth and breezed to a 16-8 victory over Michigan Bell as Mike Lawicki homered and had two singles for the winners.

In a game between second place Bingamen's Agency and Capt. Nemo's, Bingamen's surprised the league-leader 27-18. Bingamen's exploded for 11 runs in the eighth inning on four homers, two doubles and five singles to break the game open.

Bowman led his team with a single, double and a pair of round-trippers while Nemo's Mick McMann also collected a pair of homers, two singles and drove in four runs.

Bates & Sons had no trouble in beating Belleville Die, 21-12, in the only other Class A men's game of the week.

DANIEL SCHIMANSKY

Nowak shows he still has lots of miles left

Ray Nowak, a former cross country and track ace at Wayne Memorial, showed he still has a lot of miles in him as he won the two-mile event in the Wayne Track Club's weekly competitions.

Nowak churned a 10:20 to cross the finish line ahead of all others. He also won the 880-yard event with a 2:09.

Art and Kevin Kitzke, of Garden City East track fame, continued to run well as Art produced a 4:25 to take the mile, and Kevin carded a 15:27, the best effort for the three-mile event.

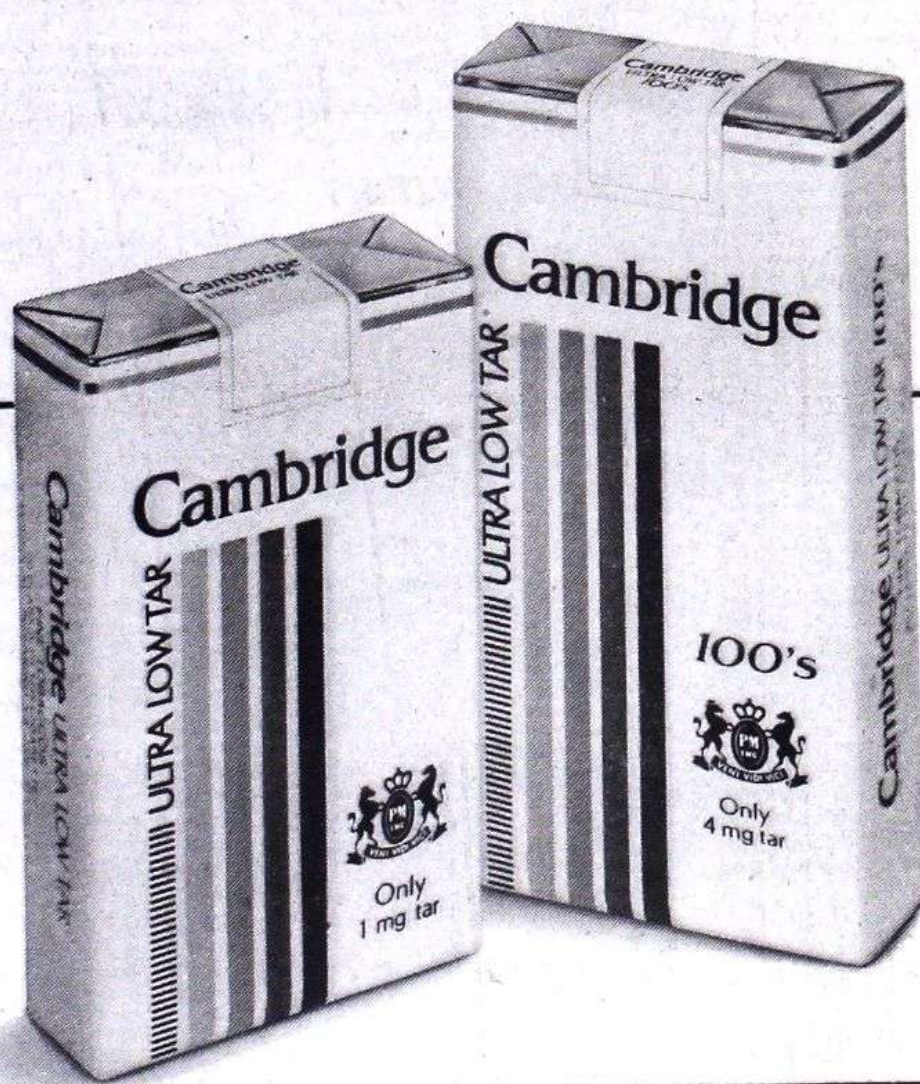

Carol Pettit, one of the area's top sprinters, made her distance debut with a 6:08 in the mile.

Little tracksters also turned in good times last week. Eight-year-old David Cerenan ran a 3:51 for the 880, while Mike LeDerle, age 10, came in at 3:31. Brothers Wayne and Jeff Roberts had excellent performances in the 440, and Lori and Lisa Schoner, a sisters' combination, proved they can run anything and everything from the 100-yards to the mile.

Walt Nowak who gave up a homer, triple, single and four RBIs to the slugger. Ron Newsome also tagged Nowak for three singles while Dave Woodley slammed out two hits.

Andy Felon was the winner, but he gave up one hit more (16-15) than his team got off of Nowak. Nowak sliced four hits and chased home four runs. Brian Watson and Tom McCloud each collected two.

Golf-A-Tron lost an opportunity to climb into a two-way tie for first when it dropped an 19-10 decision to Jake's Lounge. Winning hurler Ron Jones gave up a pair of round-trippers, one each to Rick Schmidt and Phil Raney. Schmidt had four hits and three RBIs, while Raney's four hits counted for four runs batted in. Ed Pier also checked in with four hits for Jake's including a triple and double.

Loser Rick Powell homered off of Jones who hgvae up four hits and four RBIs to the Golf-A-Tron hurler. Mike Hodges and Chet Pickins each had three safeties.

Cut short by the time limit rule, Old In held off Emergency Room, 12-11. Chuck Lebert and Lou Gilmore each had three hits off of loser Paul Campbell who also gave up four hits to Brian Markovich. Lebert, Gilmore and Markovich accounted for six runs batted in between them.

Kevin Rize put the victory in his pitching column, but not before giving up a homer and three RBIs to Pat Mulroy and a pair of RBI singles to Rick Rever and Dave Mars.

The Merchants erupted for six runs in the second inning but that's about all they could do against winning pitcher Mark Bjerk who hurled John's 7-11 to a 15-6 victory. Bjerk was tagged for three hits by Bob Blair while Mike Holton and Norm Boguslaw each collected two.

Bob Bray and Ken Sturckles each laced triples and turned in with three hits for the winners. Losing pitcher Ed Kitts delivered a double and a pair of singles to Jack Moriarty.

Bill Todd latched on to three hits and held J & D Auto Roadrunners to five hits as he lifted Newburgh to an 8-1 victory. Todd received ample hitting support from Ernie Righetti and Kevin Wilson who each slammed out a pair of singles.

Larry Holt was charged with the loss. Teammate Rick Abbott doubled while Dave Nance and Kurt Affolter sliced the other J & D safeties.

The Emergency Room erupted for 19 hits off of loser Ed Kitts to bury the Merchants 25-9 as Jeff Pozzetti smacked five hits, including a triple and accounted for five RBIs. Dave Mars had four hits and four runs batted in while Pat Mulroy drove in six runs with a roundtripper, double and a pair of singles.

Ed Kitts wasted his three hits and two RBIs and digested the loss. Teammates Ken Paciocco and Cliff Williamson laced three and two hits, respectively.

In the only other Red Division duel, John's 7-1 came out a 13-8 winner of Jake's Lounge as winning pitcher Bjerk was forced to hold off a last inning surge by the losers. Jake's rallied for four runs in the final frame, but it wasn't enough. Losing pitcher Ron Jones couldn't stop Berk at the plate as he drilled three singles.

Moriarty and Bob Bray each had a pair of hits.

Bjerk, who also had his problems on the mound, watched as Ron Hayes cracked three hits. Keith Wells and Chappy Reynolds each had two.

Scoring in each inning except the fifth, Rocco's chalked up its 11th victory at the expense of McCurdy's Optical 22-5 as pitcher J.P. Antrobios tossed a seven-hitter. Doug Courter had two of McCurdy's hits, while Tom Matthews and Roy Todd each had run-scoring singles.

Loser Ed Spontack was wacked for 22 hits, five of those going to Tim Griffin who drove in five runs with a homer, pair of two-baggers and two singles. Bill Gibson failed to hit for the "cycle" when he didn't single, but his homer, triple and double counted for five RBIs. Paul Posluszny also carded three hits.

A & B Incorporated kept its hold on second place with a 10-4 victory over Century 21. Jim Haggard, the winning pitcher, helped his cause with a pair of singles. Teammate Jeff Orr also had two hits off of loser Joe Arbini.

Haggard was tagged for eight hits, two each by Dave Gillies and Jerry Ball. Terry O'Neill hammered a three-run homer for the losers.

McCurdy's bounced back and crushed the County Mounties 27-2 as Ed Spontack carded a five-hitter. The Mounties averted a shutout thanks to two runs in the fourth. Jerry York tripled in one run while Chris Guiski and Ed Harden's base hit produced the other.

Ed Tolson, Doug Coutier and Tom Matthews had an outstanding day at the plate for the winners. Tolson got to loser Don Belcher for four RBIs and three doubles, while Coutier also checked in with four runs batted in thanks to a homer and a pair of singles. Matthews laced a homer, triple and single.

Bob's Catering chalked up its fourth win in 12 outings at the expense of Racine Hydraulics 15-8. Winning pitcher Bob Serra was generous to Darrell Newsome and Toss Sass who each had three hits. Newsome and Bill Buckner also drove in three runs with Buckner's triple accounting for two of them.

Doug Zang blasted a roundtripper and singled twice off of winner Serra. Paul Brown and Alex Mandulian also had two hits apiece.

Racine's scored seven times in the second innings but those were the only runs they put on the board in a 9-7 loss to the Wrecking Crew. The crewmen came back with four of their own runs in the second, tied it up with three runs in the third, then broke the knot with two more in the fifth to hand Zang the loss.

Zang, Jim Speigel and Bob Hout each connected for two hits off of winner Gerry Nowak who got the RBIs from Mike McClean, Ken Kuhlman and Jim Curnutte to win this one.

The Outlaws scored five times in the sixth but it wasn't enough as they dropped a 17-11 decision to No Services. Each team collected 15 hits, but the winners got homers from Rick Patino, Rick Boink and Dale Giaechina.

Winner Frank Abraham gave up a homer and a pair of singles to Chris Rowe, while Tom Jardine latched on to three singles and Russell Means turned in with an RBI and two singles for the losers.

In the only other Green Division game, the Mounties came alive with six runs in the fourth and five more in the fifth to set down Fiesta Lanes 14-8 as Brent Conley chalked up the victory. Conley delivered two hits each to pat Ritter, Bob Koller and Dan Zywick.

Roy Harmon, who had three singles, Rick Rynicki, who belted a homer and double, and Jerry York, who doubled and tripled, each had three RBIs off of loser Mike McManamon.

Compiling a 18-2 over-all record on the year, the Glads captured both the American Division title, then beat their counterparts in the National Division to earn a "double crown" in the Plymouth-Canton Girls Junior Baseball League. Members of the team include Marcie Walker (front row, from left), Carolyn Ret, Sandy Oberliesen, Zarine Alphonso, Jennifer Belhart, Tracey Piercecchi, Lisa Riedel; second row are Lauri Richards, Amanda Matzo, Jennifer Bardelli, Sue Williams, Vicki Ferko and Keri McBride; third row are Linda Richards, Coach Chris Hurtunise, Cathy Chopp, Mark Richards, manager, Jennifer Gansler, and Coach Judy Ferko. In the playoffs the Glads emerged with leads to the creek which dissects the fairway about 20 yards in front of the green. Shooting downhill across the creek can give a difficult perspective of the distance and coming up short will send the golf ball swimming.

Number 10 hole is a fairly easy 340-yard, par 4 dogleg to the right. However, the fairway crosses the meandering creek twice and trees line the right side of the fairway. Many say that number 11, a par 3, 220-yard test is the toughest hole to par on the course. The entire length of the fairway is on the side of a hill that slopes left to right and bouncing shots angle toward that omnipresent creek. About the only flat part of the fairway is the approach to the green and the large green itself.

The last seven holes are not barricaded at all by a creek — a forest of trees is the main obstacle for those who don't follow the straight and narrow.

Help cure cancer write now.

Thanks to your help, the tide is beginning to turn.

The past few years have brought new discoveries in chemotherapy.

And new diagnostic techniques that combine the "eyes" of X-ray machines with the "brains" of computers. And successful new programs of combination therapies.

And there are promising reports coming in from research laboratories all over the world.

We now have everything we need to save about half the people who get cancer.

LOOK FOR WSDS VAN AT WAYNE'S SIDEWALK SALES

Van Buren's Senior Circuit baseball champ

Thanks to an outstanding 13-1 won-lost record, the Angels reign as Van Buren's inaugural Senior League Baseball Champs. It was the first year that the township had decided to organize a league for 13-15 year olds, and the Angels proved they were the best team. In the Angels' line-up were catcher Roger Templemen (back row, from left), second basemen Andy Quinton, first baseman Tim Samsel, Coach Bob Morris, Manager and Vice-President of the league, Rick Edwards, pitcher-outfielder Dennis Overholdt, pitcher-shortstop Sam Villa, third baseman Derrick Smith and outfielder Steve Baker. In the front row are outfielders Ken Ross, Dave Gresco and second basemen Buddy Boyer and Bill Somerville, pitcher-outfielder Eric Edwards, Outfielder Eric Stimack, outfielder Eric Wegerbauer and outfielder Bob Morris.

All-Stars win senior title; advance to district playoffs

It's the first team or athlete who wins or breaks records that fans remember.

And Van Buren baseball fans will probably remember the Angels as the first team to capture that township's Senior Baseball League Championships.

The Angels, coached by Bob Morris and managed by Rick Edwards, chalked up a 13-1 won-lost record en route to the 1980 title, the first for 13-to-15 year olds who emerged atop of an 8-team circuit.

Three good reasons for the Angel's championship are pitchers Sam Villa, Dennis Overholdt and Eric Edwards.

The Angels were also tough in post-season tournament play as they earned three victories: beating the Indians with a bottom of the seventh rally, 5-4; destroying the Expos, 13-1, and again pulling out a last inning 6-5 victory over the Braves.

The Senior Circuit's 13-year-old All-Stars won three straight to clinch the district title. Van Buren's line-up included: Jimmy Adams, Mike Beckley, Karl Duda, Darin Kikola, Bobby Morris, Shawn Armstrong, Roger Brown, Bobby Tansey, Troy Champion, Mark Melidioso, Rick Campbell, Randy Smith, Dennis Manning and Eric Stimack.

The All-Stars were managed by Tom Marsh and coached by Brian Cullin.

The Belleville Senior League 15-year-old All-Star Team got off on the right foot as it qualified to play for the district championships by picking up a pair of wins - a 22-8 shellacking and a 9-4 triumph over a highly-touted Jackson Southwest All-Stars.

Mike Marsh hammered two homers, one over the left center fence, to pace the Belleville attack. Jeff Morris and Sam Villa came through with a pair of doubles while Ron Rich helped his game with three singles.

Rich notched seven strikeouts, walked three and allowed five hits in earning the decision.

Belleville clashes with neighboring Ypsilanti on Saturday with Villa slated to see mound duty for this crucial game.

'A' storm's brewing in women's softball

Johnny's, Studio remain deadlocked

While the storm that swept through Southeastern Michigan last week and paralyzed most of the communities captured most of the attention, there is also a storm, of sorts, brewing in Westland Women's Class A softball league.

Johnny's Shell and Studio Lounge remain deadlocked at the top of the standings and neither team apparently is going to budge out of the coveted berth until their showdown.

At present, both teams sport 9-3 records with Johnny's posting No. 9 at the expense of J & D Auto Roadrunners, 9-1, and Studio winning their ninth on a 2-0 shutout of Alberta Thomas.

Pitcher Nancy Bauman earned the rare whitewash, tossing a 2-hitter. She gave up a harmless single to losing pitcher Shelly Arner and a base hit to Barb Enoch.

Studio broke a scoreless deadlock in the bottom of the fifth, then scored what proved to be the final run in the sixth. Vicki Pier chased home one of those runs with a triple, Mary Trayner got the other RBI with a single. Karen Turflinger laced two hits for the winners.

Johnny's leaped on loser Judy Cousineau for 14 hits and scored three times in the first inning as pitcher Sue Chopp allowed eight hits and one run to keep pace with Studio.

Beth Tracy has a field day as she rapped Cousineau for a homer and triple and drove in three runs. Teammate Debbie Mazurek collected four hits, including three doubles and Peggy Stevens wound up with two singles.

Chopp gave up a single, double and RBI to Jan Harstead, while Cindy Nance's double was the only other extra base hit off the winner.

In the meantime, California Sandwich gained ground on league-leading Token Lounge in the chase for the Class B title. The Californians edged the league-leader, 3-2, cutting Token's lead by one game. Token is atop of the circuit with a 10-2 record, however, three teams — California Sandwich, Jeanne's Gems and Westland Lock & Key — are 9-3 going into the stretch.

California dealt Token the loss thanks to a top-of-the-seventh run which broke a 2-all deadlock. Winning pitcher Lynn Dupek had ample hitting support from Nancy Jimenez who sing. and doubled while mates Michele Hatty and Paula Campbell each belted run-scoring hits off of loser June Evans.

Alyson Wilkins and Debbie Voegel drove in Token's two runs.

Westland Lock & Key shut the doors on Jeanne's Gems 13-3 to remain in the title picture. Winning pitcher Jan Crawford helped her cause with three singles and drove in one run. Debbie Whitson had four hits and Pat Rize got three, including a four-bagger and four RBIs off of loser Nancy Fisher.

Fisher drove in one of her team's three runs with a single. Karen Phillips and Joyce Forrest split four hits between them.

In other Class B action, the Jock Shop humbled Char's Cermanics 14-8 in an abbreviated game, while Rocco's turned back Charlie's Angels 10-2 and B & E Sales overpowered Rowe Electric 19-9.

Rilla Thedford knocked in two runs with two singles and Theresa Calagari latched on to two hits while Mary Szymanski drove in a run for Jock's who collected 12 hits off loser Ann Churches.

MRS. ANDREW P. HANSON

Andrew Hanson, Claire Volk wed at Presbyterian Church

A wedding ceremony at high noon on June 28 joined Claire Volk and Andrew P. Hanson, both of Ann Arbor, in holy matrimony. The young couple exchanged nuptial vows and rings before Mr. William Hillegonds and some 125 assembled relatives and friends at the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor.

As guests were seated, a prelude of trumpet music by Phil Clark with piano accompaniment by Marilyn Van Der Velde filled the sanctuary. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Volk Jr. of 48001 Denton Rd., Belleville, the bride was escorted down the aisle by her father.

For her wedding day she selected a toe-touching creation of point d'esprit lace fashioned with a deep square neckline enhanced with a wide lace ruffle which also formed capelet sleeves above the elbow. The full skirt, comprised of three tiers of lace, fell into a flounced hemline which terminated in a chapel train.

Mrs. Carolyn Beth Braswell of East Lansing was maid of honor in peach chiffon with an underdress of peach qiana. The high-rise criss-cross bodice, designed with spaghetti straps above a dropped shoulder line, was attached to a softly gathered skirt.

She wore a floral headpiece to match and carried a mixture of garden flowers in peach, yellow and mint green.

The quintet of bridesmaids in similar frocks included Pam Wells of Jackson, Mo. and Nancy Volk of Belleville, the bride's sister-in-law, in green; Johanne Volk of Ypsilanti, another sister-in-law, and Kathy Laracey of Ann Arbor, the bridegroom's sister, in yellow, and Sue Smith of Ann Arbor in peach.

The bridegroom, the son of Mrs. Ruth Hanson of 104 Boehringer Ct., Ann Arbor, and Hugh Hanson of 1175 Orchard Rd., Essexville, asked his brother, William Hanson of Bay City, to be best man.

Groomsmen were John Clark of Grand Rapids; Pat Johnson of Troy; Mark Vanderberg of Bay City; Mel Laracey of Ann Arbor, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Bruce Patterson of Essexville.

At the indoor-outdoor reception, which followed at the Volk's Belleville home, the bride's mother greeted guests in a formal gown fashioned with a champagne-colored qiana skirt and chiffon blouson bodice in shades of mauve, blue, green and champagne. Mrs. Hanson chose for her son's wedding a street-length wrap dress in mauve chiffon.

Since returning from a week-long honeymoon to Toronto and Montreal, the newlyweds have taken up residence at 2713 Winthrop Ct., Ann Arbor.

An honor graduate of Michigan State University, the new Mrs. Hanson affiliated with Phi Gamma Nu business sorority. Her husband graduated from MSU in 1978 and later attended the University of Michigan. At the present time he is employed at Sun Graphics and Publications in Ypsilanti.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's mother and family, was held at the Women's City Club in Ann Arbor.

Dearborn church is scene of Mills-Bassett wedding

The First Presbyterian Church of Dearborn was the setting June 28 for the one o'clock ceremony at which Kathleen Ann Bassett became the bride of Daniel Mills.

Double ring vows were exchanged before The Rev. John T. Carroll and some 140 assembled relatives and friends including the young couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan H. Bassett of 44385 Harmony Ln., Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Gale Mills of 2745 Aitken Rd., Brown City.

Musicians for the occasion were Stephanie Grosz, flutist; Michael Hendricks, tenor, and Alexander Turco, organist.

creation of white peau de soi designed with a portrait neckline applied with Alencon lace and seed pearling. The lace motif was repeated on the long, fitted sleeves and again on the scalloped skirt which drifted into a cathedral-length train.

Honor attendants were Elizabeth Bird of Springfield, Mo., formerly of Dearborn, and Dean Mills of Albion, brother of the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids included Patti Bassett, sister of the bride; Deana Halcomb of Milwaukee, Wisc., formerly of Belleville; Joan Van Buhler of Belleville and Stephanie Grosz of Richardson, Tex.

The bridal coterie was dressed in sleeveless, A-line frocks of baby blue polyester satin accented with sheer blue lace flowered capelets. They pinned single daisies and baby's breath in their hair and carried colonial bouquets of white daisies, pale yellow baby carnations, lavender pink daisies and baby's breath.

Groomsmen were David Mills of Brown City, brother of the bridegroom; Joe Canter of Kalamazoo; Dave Carr of Rochester, Minn., and Dennis Kirby of Kalamazoo. The bride's brothers, Richard and Paul Bassett, seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bassett donned a polyester dusty rose gown to which she pinned her corsage of white roses and baby's breath. Identical flowers were worn by Mrs. Mills who chose a full-length soft peach gown for the occasion.

Following a reception in the church's Mitchell Hall, the newlyweds departed for a honeymoon in Michigan's Upper Peninsula and Mackinac Island. They are now making their home at 12209 Plano Rd., Apt. 1023, Richardson, Tex.

A 1975 graduate of Belleville High School, the new Mrs. Mills holds a bachelor of arts degree in music education from Western Michigan University. She is now assistant band director at Lake Highlands Junior High School in Richardson.

Her bridegroom earned his bachelor of science degree from WMU after graduation from Marlette High School in 1975. He is employed as a math instructor at Parkhill Junior High School in Richardson.

The bridegroom's parents played host at the rehearsal dinner held at Hillside Inn of Plymouth.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL MILLS

Small-McCully wed in Ypsilanti

During a four o'clock ceremony at the First Baptist Church of Ypsilanti on July 26, Mrs. Lois Tenny McCully of 12410 Lake Pointe Pass, Belleville, and Henry Franklin Small of Jackson became husband and wife.

The Rev. William A. Bingham came from St. Joseph, Mich. to preside at the nuptial rite before some 35 close friends and relatives.

A solo, "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Denise Zellner. Complimenting the bride's pale blue polyester dress was a nosegay of daisies, cornflowers and baby's breath.

For her role as honor attendant, Mrs. Helen Small Preston of Jackson, sister of the bridegroom, donned a pale pink polyester frock and carried a bouquet similar to the bride's. As her mother's bridesmaid, Mrs. Margaret McCully Hensley of Belleville, wore a soft blue polyester dress.

The bridegroom's two sons, Richard Small of Attleboro, Mass. and George Small of Galveston, Tex., served as best man and usher, respectively.

The newlyweds, who were honored at a dinner in the church parlor following their marriage, are now at home at 120 N. Thompson, Jackson.

A retired teacher, who formerly taught at Elwell Elementary School, the new Mrs. Small holds a bachelor of science degree from Michigan State University and her master's in library science from the University of Michigan.

Her husband attended Kalamazoo College and Michigan State University and has a bachelor of science degree in electrical and mechanical engineering. Now retired, he formerly worked for Consumer's power in Jackson.

College of Regents night held by WOTM

The Belleville Women of the Moose celebrated the annual College of Regents night on July 14 with guests from several chapters attending.

Belleville's newest College member, Annabelle Sobolewski, gave a resume of her Women of the Moose accomplishments which led to the College of Regents degree and her trip to Mooseheart, Ill. to receive it.

Marlene Manier was installed as publicity chairman for the coming year. Other chairmen and officers had been installed in June.

Several gifts were exchanged for past services and following the meeting dessert and coffee were served.

FICTION

"No Love Lost" by Helen Van Slyke. This is a splendid family story spanning three generations of extraordinary and very different wives, written with the author's keen understanding of the conflicts which beset the modern woman.

"Charlie Boy" by Peter Feibleman. This distinguished novel is the exciting story of a man who throws the city of New Orleans into a panic as a result of four brutal murders.

"The Doctor's Promise" by Elizabeth Seifert. Dr. Dick Foster has lost his wife to a pre-med student and then he meets a woman who is willing to give him the love and understanding that he has never known.

BIOGRAPHY

"In Joy Still Felt: the autobiography of Isaac Asimov 1954-78" by Isaac Asimov. In this volume of his autobiography, Dr. Asimov, the elder statesman of science and science fiction, explains just how he became a space age phenomenon.

"You Could Look It Up: The Life of Casey Stengel" by Maury Allen. The definitive biography of the legendary Casey Stengel, ballplayer and manager extraordinary. Drawing on his exclusive access to many of Casey's childhood and sports friends, Maury Allen recreates Stengel's fantastic career with lively humor and warm affection.

NON-FICTION

"Credit Where Credit is Due" by Glen Walker. This is the first legal guide to the safe and intelligent use of credit in America today. It explains, in terms you can easily understand, what your rights are in a credit economy and how you can assert them.

"Laying Waste: the Poisoning of America by Toxic Chemicals" by Michael Brown. The author broke the Love Canal story. Now he shows that such chemical waste dumping has produced thousands of "toxic-time-bombs" throughout the United States.

"Don't Raise Your Child to be a Fat Adult" by J. F. Wilkinson. If your child is overweight, anywhere from just a little chubby to obviously fat, this book is for you. It will tell you what causes obesity and shows you how to treat it in your child.

"Homeworks" by Robin Guid. This is about the things you place in your homes — those possessions you proudly display, as well as those necessities you'd rather hide away. You can establish the kind of environment you want by making the contents of your home work for you.

Altar dates in their future

MISS CAREY

The engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sylvia June Carey, and John Randall Thornburg are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carey of 13020 Edgedale, Belleville.

The bride-elect, a 1978 graduate of Belleville High School, will be a junior at Western Michigan University in the fall. A member of Belleville Assembly No. 49, Rainbow for Girls, and Eastern Star Chapter No. 73, she is employed at the Pizza Hut on Rawsonville Road.

Her fiancé is the son of Mrs. Joe Ann Thornburg of 15234 Riverside Dr., Livonia, and the late Paul Thornburg. A 1977 Rochester High School graduate and a senior at Western Michigan University, he is employed by the City of Livonia.

The First United Methodist

MISS BUDRICK

Church of Belleville will be the setting for the Aug. 16 wedding ceremony.

BUDRICK-EDWARDS

Lori Lynn Budrick and Dewain E. Edwards are engaged and making plans for an October, 1981 wedding.

Their betrothal and wedding date are being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Budrick of 11636 Haggerty Rd., Belleville, parents of the bride-elect.

Miss Budrick, a 1979 graduate of Belleville High School, is employed as a groom for horses at the Lyn-Dee Farms on Judd Road.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Jones of 11543 Dewitt, Belleville, the prospective bridegroom served with the U. S. Navy and is currently completing classes in X-ray technology.

MISS STEPHENS

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Stephens of 6584 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sarita Lynn Stephens, to Alfred Clarence Chadwick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Chadwick of 11090 Delano St., Romulus.

The bride-elect graduated from Romulus High School in 1979 and later attended Wayne County Community College.

Her fiancé, a 1976 Romulus High School alumnus, attended the Detroit College of Business and is now working for Detroit Diesel Allison in Romulus.

An August 30 altar date has been set.

FOIL-WRAPPED DINNER

- 2 cornish hens, split in half
- 4 potatoes, washed and sliced
- 1 green pepper, sliced
- 2 onions, sliced
- 4 tablespoons margarine
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, washed and sliced

Defrost the cornish hens, split in half and clean. Wash potatoes and slice in thick slices. Clean green pepper and slice into rings. Slice onions.

Tear off eight sheets of aluminium foil in equal sizes. Spread margarine about in center of four sheets. Layer on potatoes, mushrooms, onion slice and green pepper rings (the amount on the latter three vegetables is up to you). Lay cornish hen half on top, skin side out. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste.

Place foil on top of packets and seal tightly on all four sides. Place on hot coals; cook, turning occasionally.

On my electric grill, it takes about one hour to cook at the second highest setting. But keep a close eye on the packages. If left too long, the potatoes could burn and stick to the foil.

For a side dish, wrap fresh corn, husk and all, in foil and grill along with the hens. Throw in a salad and beverage, and you're ready for a delicious dinner.

Restaurants crying the "no business" blues could (SHOULD) sit up and take notice of what their counterparts with seemingly endless lines of customers are doing to draw and redraw patrons.

One Ann Arbor place, specializing in seafood, ALWAYS has a waiting line... and why? For one thing it advertises daily and with such attractive drawing cards as king crab legs, $5.95, (regularly $8.95) salad, corn on the cob and bread included. If you're a shellfish devotee you'll realize that's a mighty reasonable price to offer.

That will be what gets you to the food emporium; what keeps you doing re-runs is the quality of the aforementioned, the snappy service (for a packed place) and the atmosphere. Any restaurateur can slash his prices but, woe to him who also lowers his quality. Let him try it and it's "so long, John," to that establishment.

Not only does this particular dining spot run ads regularly in its local paper but the almost daily message also reads, "Separate checks for luncheon parties on request". How many times have you had to beg, hassle or wheedle separate tabs from a waitress when everyone involved was on a different eating kick?

Attractive specials at cut-rate prices will lure the customers and if top notch food and pleasant service are included, a restaurant will make it every time.

rather monotonous pages, I STILL didn't know "whodunit". I had to start all over to find out who had been doing the talking and just who the eventual high-placed foreign agent was. And... I'm really not too sure if I know NOW!

Written by a newcomer to my personal list of authors, Thomas Wiseman is too inconsistent in his story telling and skips from one character and scene to another too often and too rapidly. He also rambles but DOES manage to throw in a particularly good chapter often enough to keep the reader coming back for more.

With Homer, "the man who is the most highly placed Russian spy in history", as the nucleus for his novel, Wiseman spins his tale to include Bill Hardman, a Truman appointee and supposed watchdog of national security. In the entire book, he does little more than have lunch, attend cocktail parties and ask a lot of insane questions. He also is unbelievably naive and foolishly careless in his relationship with a much younger free-lance reporter (natch) who also free lances a rather risqué type of romance.

I am not one to scan as I read or skip whole pages but with Mr. Wiseman I found myself haphazardly a lot and wondering just WHAT was going on.

WHAT HAPPENED IN THE PAST ON THIS DAY, JULY 30 -

IN 1863 The man who was to introduce and perfect mass production techniques, Henry Ford, the future American automobile manufacturer, was born.

IN 1891 - Casey Stengel, who was to be one of U.S. baseball's most colorful figures, bowed into the world.

IN 1916 - German saboteurs blew up a munitions plant at Black Tom Island outside Jersey City, N. J. during World War I. Two people lost their lives in the explosion and property damage was estimated at more than $22 million.

IN 1918 - Sgt. Joyce Kilmer, promising young poet whose "Trees" was among the best-known American verses, was killed in action in France while on patrol duty with the 165th U. S. Infantry.

IN 1942 - President Roosevelt signed the bill creating the WAVES (Women Appointed for Voluntary Service) in the U. S. Navy. The auxiliary agency was staffed by 11,000 women and Mildred Mc Afee, president of Wellesley College, served as its director during World War II.

THE BOTTOM LINE: If God planned for us to take vacations in summer, why didn't he make the mosquito a vegetarian?

I've bombed out on the literary trail of late, choosing two recent books which have left me dissatisfied and disgruntled over the time spent on them.

The first, from the current arrival bookshelf at the library, was chosen because of the author, Graham Greene, who has penned some pretty good stuff over the years: "The Quiet American", "The Human Factor" and "The Power and the Glory" among his credits.

His newest, "Doctor Fischer of Geneva or The Bomb Party", not only bears a strange title but is one of the most depressing bits I've read. It's only virtue, other than having a moral, is that it's a skinny volume, a mere 156 pages.

In the book, the title character (a millionaire, a student of human nature and a sadist) experiments at his "famous parties" to see just how far the very, very rich will go to satisfy their greed.

If you are a Graham Greene die hard, tho', you might just as well add this to his repertoire (particularly since it takes so little time to complete.)

The jacket of "A Game of Secrets" promised "A truly authentic glimpse of the spies' world and how it entangles even people outside its boundaries... it makes other espionage novels read like nursery tales."

I found the quote completely misleading in that when I DID manage to finish the book, struggling through its 370

Suzanne Hardway C.B. Teen Queen

MISS HARDWAY

Suzanne Hardway, 13, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hardway of Romulus, won the title of C. B. Teen Queen at Imlay City on July 12.

As the Ypsilanti Misfits C.B. Teen Queen, she competed against 13 to 19 year-old contestants from other C.B. clubs, including several from Canada, to win the Roaring Twenties 12th Annual Jamboree C.B. Teen Queen Contest.

She presided over a parade and dance on Saturday night as well as other functions over the weekend.

A ninth grader at Romulus North Junior High School, she won a trophy and $50 savings bond. An honor student, she plays the cornet in the winning symphonic band at NJHS and is also a member of the girls softball team.

Run for joggers set at Washtenaw CC

Entry forms are now available for the first annual Washtenaw Community College run for joggers—the Dixboro Dam Road Run—to be held Sunday morning, Aug. 17. Two different runs will be held: the Seven Mile River Dam Run and the Orchard 1.5 Mile Fun Run, announce race directors, Fred Wolven and Paul Rosser of the WCC staff.

The Seven Mile River Dam Run includes scenic country near the college on Huron River Drive, residential and park areas, paved and gravel roads and pathways and some good sized hills. The Orchard 1.5 Mile Fun Run is a looping course around the college campus.

Entry fee is $5 per person. The first 500 entrants will receive T-shirts during check-in time. There is no entry fee for the Fun Run and T-shirts will cost $3. Entries must be received by Aug. 8. There will be no post-registration. Check-in is 8 to 8:45 a.m. on the west side of the college's Student Center Building at 4800 East Huron River Drive. The Dam Run will begin at 9:20 a.m.; the Fun Run will begin at 9:30 a.m. Certificates will be awarded to all finishers in both runs. Medals will be given to the top finishers, both male and female in the River Dam Run.

For more information and entry blanks, please call Wolven at 973-3405 or Rosser at 973-3594. Prospective participants may also write for information and entry materials to WCC Run c/o Paul Rosser and Fred Wolven, Washtenaw Community College, 4800 East Huron River Drive, Ann Arbor 48106.

Very portable Pita pockets to fill, grill

A pocket full of nourishment always is welcome on a picnic. So why not combine America's newest food, pita bread, with grilling favorites such as knockwurst, bratwurst and hot dogs.

The National Hot Dog & Sausage Council suggests using these pita loaves (hollowed rounds sometimes also called peetah, Syrian or Near Eastern bread) to add zest to easy summer entertaining.

Let guests make up their own special Sausage "Dagwood" Grill from a smorgasbord of sliced processed meats and vegetable fixings of sauerkraut, bean sprouts, chopped onions or tomatoes.

Perfectly portable, pita bread also is ideal for making Cheesy Hot Dog Totes. Totes can be made ahead, wrapped in foil and heated later on the grill.

Sausage 'Dagwood' Grill

Pita bread, each loaf cut in half
1 roll heavy-duty aluminum foil
Sliced hot dogs, knockwurst and bratwurst
(Figure 1/4 to one-third pound of sausage per person)

Tomatoes, chopped with celery salt added
Chopped onions — Offer three styles (Bermuda, Spanish, green)
Bean sprouts, drained
Alfalfa sprouts
Cheddar or American cheese, shredded
Pickle relish
Dill pickles, sliced paper-thin Yogurt variety of mustards and ketchup

Before guests arrive, chop, slice and refrigerate sausages and smorgasbord condiments. Cut pita loaves in half. When grill is properly heated have guests fill pita pockets with their choice of sausages and condiments. Wrap sandwiches in foil and place on grill for about 10 minutes. Uncover and continue grilling until bread is crispy and pocket heated through, about 10 to 15 minutes more, depending on desired crispness. Cost per serving approximately 90 cents.

Cheesy Hot Dog Tote

1/2 pound sharp cheddar cheese, shredded
2 oz. jar stuffed green olives, chopped
1/2 cup frozen diced onions
1/2 cup chili sauce
1 teaspoon mustard
2 hard cooked eggs, chopped
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
4 individual loaves of pita bread
Heavy-duty aluminum foil

Cut hot dogs into fourth lengthwise, then slice into 1/4-inch cubes. Combine with olives, hard cooked eggs, mustard, mayonnaise, chili sauce and cheese, mixing well. Cut pita rounds in half. Open pocket and fill with approximately one-third cup filling. Be generous. Wrap individually in foil and refrigerate or freeze.

TO GRILL: If frozen, allow to defrost at room temperature for about 10 minutes. When fire is ready, place foil-wrapped sandwiches on grill and heat 10 minutes. Uncover and continue heating until pita bread is crisp and filling is hot — 10 to 15 minutes more, depending on desired crispness. Serve with marinated vegetables or cole slaw for a complete meal.

Marriage announced

Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Ladd of Belleville announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Lorrie Marie, to Donnie Bennett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William "Jay" Bennett of West Palm Beach, Fla.

Jerry Difede performed the ceremony in his home in Lakeworth, Fla. at six thirty in the evening on July 17.

The couple's only attendants were Jimmy and Gerilyn Bennett, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

A 1978 graduate of Belleville High School, Lorrie and her husband are making their home at 410 South "J" St., Lakeworth, Fla.

Mrs. Nolff, infant son, 'showered'

Joshua Daniel Nolff, who put in his appearance May 31 at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing, and his mother, Mrs. Kenneth (Kathleen) Nolff, were the honored guests July 13 at a baby shower.

Held at the home of Mrs. Dean Payne of Renton Road, the party was co-hosted by Connie and Nancy Payne and Joshua's aunts, Carol and Lisa Chen.

Several relatives and friends were on hand for the buffet luncheon and dessert which followed several appropriate games.

On his arrival, Joshua weighed in at 7 lbs., 10 ozs. and measured 22 inches.

Vonnie and Virginia Frady of Romulus have added a new granddaughter to their family tree, Myra Maria Frady, who made her debut June 15 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The second daughter of Myron and Gail Frady of Carlisle Street, Wayne, she weighed in at 7 lbs., 13 1/2 ozs. and is a new sister for 2-year-old Tamara Frady.

Maternal grandparents are Roman and Dorothy Whitlow of Westland and great-grandparents include Opal and Melvin Whitlow of Westland and Ester Burnett of Kentucky. The girls also have a great-grandmother, Bertha Whitlow of Westland.

Word from California tells of the arrival of a baby boy, their second, to Chris and Beverly Gille of San Bruno. Born on June 25 at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco, Eric weighed 8 lbs., 10 ozs. and measured 20 inches.

Three-year-old Shane Gille was on hand to welcome his new brother home.

The boys' grandparents are Jim and Dorothy De Mara of Westland and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gille of Sacramento, Calif. A Romulus resident, Albina De Mara, and Westlanders Mr. and Mrs. Roy Watson, are the proud great-grandparents.

Mrs. Gille is the former Beverly De Mara of Westland.

A petite little package, which had its origins in Korea, was delivered July 3 at Detroit Metro Airport to Wayne City Attorney John P. McKinney and his wife, Mary Hastie McKinney, who is treasurer of the South Huron School Board.

The newcomer to the United States, Kathryn Soo, made her debut Jan. 22, 1980 and is the new addition to the household at 25101 Clark Rd., New Boston.

Also on hand to welcome her into the family were her sister, 15-year-old Vicki McKinney, and 13-year-old brother, Matt, and their grandmother, Mrs. Carol Sylvester of Harris Road, Belleville.

There's a twin bill playing these midsummer days at the Grobbel home at 15157 Woodmont, Romulus. Identical baby boys are proving quite a handful for their mother, Connie Jean Grobbel.

Arriving at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn, Richard Neal put in his appearance at 7:46 a.m. and weighed 3 lbs., 12 1/2 ozs. while his brother, Charles Allen, came into the world at 7:48 a.m., a bit heavier, at 4 lbs., 4 1/4 ozs.

The babies measured 16 1/2 and 17 1/2 inches, respectively. Richard Allen and Beverly Grobbel of Romulus are the maternal grandparents who, with the twins' Aunt Michelle, Aunt Tina and Uncle Scott, were awaiting their arrival home.

EARLY RETIREMENT
A report indicates that early retirement is being used by more companies as a way to replace older men with younger ones. A growing number of specialists believe people will be retired early enough to start second careers.

Whether you are starting a first career or a second one, the place to look for opportunity is in the (Associated Newspapers) Classified Ads. Be sure to check there, not just today, but everyday!

WANT AD

A MIGHTY LABORER

You think you work hard?
How would you like to be on the job 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year?

Well, meet the Mighty Laborer -- the Want Ad in your newspaper. He is the perpetual motion in the buying and selling business. He has the power to move houses, trucks, cars and large appliances. Or he can gently deposit a small puppy in a new home.

He offers generous rewards to those who clean up their storage areas and advertise no-longer-needed items in the Articles For Sale columns.

He's interested, too, in your work -- or lack of it. He can find you a job in the Help Wanted section, or match employers with new employees.

The best thing about this non-stop worker is that he requires very low pay -- just small change for each hour he is on the job. It's the low-cost way to satisfy your buying needs, or sell off unused articles. Call our Classified department and put a hard-working Want Ad to work for you.

Checkmate:

Wayne club president finds lesson in life on chess board

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Larry Wright isn't particularly fond of racquetball but he plays the game to stay in shape for his true test of stamina—chess.

Stay in shape for CHESS?

"Those four hour matches can get grueling," deadpanned Wright, the president of the Wayne Chess Club. "The fatigue gets to you if you're out of shape—it's tough to concentrate then. A sound mind and body go together.

"Chess can be played for fun but mostly it's for blood," he laughed. "The game is a battle of minds, a competition between egos."

And in that world of kings, queens, pawns and egos Wright more than holds his own. The Westland resident won the 1977 Michigan Amateur Chess championship in his class and placed 14th in a national tournament the next year. Rated a category 2 (advanced) player, Wright figures his rating is among the top two percent in the Western Wayne County area.

"When I was 12 a friend introduced me to the game," recalled Wright, now 34. "But it wasn't until 1972 that I really understood chess. I learned how to study the books (on chess)—five hours a day at times.

"I learned that I hadn't had the will to win, to compensate for every disadvantage on the board and push my strong points. Chess is an unsolved riddle and I want to master the game."

Wright, a real estate broker in Wayne, now plays once a day, often against other members of the Wayne Chess Club. Club meetings are held at 7 p.m. every Monday at the Wayne Community Center featuring challenge matches and instructions.

He's also been known to play up to 20 matches simultaneously, a feat that always gets a crowd humming. Recently Wright defeated 11 competitors and took 19 of 20 contests another time (losing only to Wayne Councilman Kurt Heidmann).

"Memory is the most important thing," he explained. "Playing more than one person at a time is like a magician's trick. It looks impressive but actually playing 20 matches can be easier than going against one rated player."

Simultaneous matches may be one of the few ways left to promote this game with the scholarly image. That or bring back the controversial Bobby Fischer, whose war of nerves with Russian Boris Spassky did wonders for chess popularity.

"We need more colorful players," admitted Wright during a mid-afternoon break from his real estate chores. "Right now there's more registered chess players in the Soviet Union than bowlers in the United States."

Active in the chess community, Wright is the former secretary and now a member of the board of directors of the Michigan Chess Association. He will serve as a delegate to the U.S. Chess Federation's convention next month in Atlanta.

But chess is more than check and checkmate, according to Wright. More than rankings and simultaneous demonstrations.

"As Bobby Fischer once said 'Chess is life,'" declared Wright. "There are a lot of correlations to be made. You start out

Lower Huron Metropark features family fare

In Western Wayne County, we are blessed with one of the finest regional parks in the entire state. Lower Huron Metropark, situated just south of the I-94 and I-275 Interchange off Hannan Road, along the Huron River. The 1,200 acres of parkland offer a wide variety of leisure activities geared for the entire family.

The activities include: Picnicing — There are seven picnic areas located within the park that include tables, stoves and shelters. These areas are not reserved making it a first-come, first-serve area.

Nature Trails — The two nature trails Paw Paw and Bob White are open year round for your enjoyment. Trail brochures are available at the park office.

Par 3 Golf — An excellent way to introduce children to the sport. This 18-hole course is open from 8 a.m.-8 p.m. daily. Weekday rates are $2.50, weekends and holidays $3.00. Golf club rental is available for 50 cents.

Swimming Pool — This Olympic sized pool is open through Labor Day. There is a nominal fee for the bathhouse and coin lockers. A concession stand is located nearby as well as a tot lot and hard surface games area.

Group Camping — Lower Huron offers a year round site for overnight and day camping for organized youth groups. There is a fee for this service — to reserve a spot call the park office.

Canoeing — Maps for trips along the Huron River are available at the park office. If you have a group, campsites are available for overnight trips.

Lower Huron Metropark is the closest of three parks located in our area. Willow Metropark, located at I-275 and South Huron Road, also has a swimming facility and offers a regulation 18-hole golf course. Willow also operates a cross-country ski touring center for those of you interested in this fast growing winter activity.

Oakwoods Metropark offers an extensive nature center facility which houses display exhibits on the environment and serves as a starting point for all trails. Oakwood is situated off Willow Road one-half mile west of Huron River Drive.

Motor vehicle permits are required when visiting Metroparks. A one day vehicle permit is available for $2 while an annual sticker is $7 which entitles you to visit any of the Metroparks. For more information on Lower Huron and Willow Metropark call 697-9181, for Oakwoods call 728-1255.

The three facilities are managed by the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority. The Authority operates a system of ten metroparks located in the watersheds of the Huron and Clinton Rivers.

The park system also provides maps of Southeastern Michigan which highlight the facilities. This excellent service is available free by writing to: The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 3050 Penobscot Building, Detroit, Mich. 48226.

Northville's Marquis Theatre boasts colorful history

Charlie Chaplin and Mary Pickford once played there. Northville's Marquis Theatre has proof of that.

During the theatre's restoration period two years ago, Chaplin's autograph was sighted on an old movie screen and a handful of Miss Pickford's mail was uncovered in a backstage dressing room.

Originally opened in 1925 as the P. and A. Theatre, the venerable Greek Revival-style structure first served as a vaudeville showcase and later as one of Metropolitan Detroit's more prestigious movie emporiums. Ultimately, however, after suffering the inevitable years of decline and decay shared by most of the nation's old neighborhood movie houses in the sixties and seventies, the P. and A. succumbed.

Things might have stayed that way if it weren't for Inga Zayti, the Marquis' current owner and executive director. Mrs. Zayti and her husband Jay gutted the premises and embarked on what might be the area's most elaborate theatre renovation since the re-emergence of the Fisher Theatre some twenty years ago. And so in 1978 the old P. and A. re-opened its doors with a new name and a new face.

The Zaytis' goal was to restore the theatre to its former glory — and then some. Solid brass handles, plucked from heaps of backstage debris, were returned to the building's original French doors, long disguised by panels of plywood. Eleven coats of paint were stripped from the handsome black walnut box-office structure. A walnut-lined orchestra pit was unearthed.

Brass Winsburg chandeliers, crushed velvet seats with wrought iron frames and plush Victorian-style red carpeting were installed. And to these Mrs. Zayti added lavish stained-glass panels and a lobbyful of authentic antiques, including a turn-of-the-century popcorn wagon.

The wide scope of the attractions she has presented has also been unique: the big bands of Count Basie and Woody Herman, professional productions of such Broadway hits as "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Cabaret," classical chamber music groups, small jazz ensembles, such pop music groups as the Ink Spots and the Four Freshmen and a series of films that ranges from thirties' Marx Brothers comedies to 1980's "Coal Miner's Daughter."

The Marquis Theatre's next scheduled attraction is a new edition of the hit Company Stage revue, "Going Hollywood." A live, on-stage salute to the golden age of movie musicals, "Going Hollywood" seems a particularly appropriate attraction for the Marquis, a theatre that once thrived during that same fabled age.

Scheduled to open August 8, "Going Hollywood" will con-

throughout August. For information, call 349-8110 or 349-0868.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

Backstage visit reveals a real rock philosophy

ROBIN LANE & THE CHARTBUSTERS (Warner Bros.)

Sometimes an over-reaction by enthusiastic critics can unwittingly turn the public against an artist. For instance, when Jon Landau said of Bruce Springsteen years ago "I have seen the future of rock'n'roll, and his name is Bruce Springsteen," many, many people proclaimed they didn't like him—even though at that time they had never heard him—simply because of "that future of rock'n'roll" thing.

When I first heard this album I wondered what all the fuss was about; every magazine even remotely related to rock seemed to have an article on Robin and her band—lavish reviews were everywhere. In short, it smelled of a major hype.

Then I saw the Chartbusters live, and it all came to me—it wasn't a hype, Robin wasn't just another recent addition to the female rock market, and in fact has about as much in common with Pat Benatar and her ilk as night does to day. I was impressed.

This is no slick studio band fronted by gyrating, come-hither type female, but a rock'n'roll band in the basic sense of the term. Guitarists Asa Brebner and Leroy Radcliffe (both formerly of the Modern Lovers) work together superbly, joined often by Ms. Lane on rhythm guitar. Add drummer Tim Jackson and bassist Scott Baerenwald (reportedly a former AR-CHIE!) and you've got an extremely hot band.

After the show I was backstage (actually, at Bookies, it's upstairs...) talking with the band. All were extremely amicable, especially Asa and Robin, despite being interviewed by another guy who asked really great questions like "What's the purpose of your band?" two or three times ("Money!" I drunkenly yelled the second time, breaking up the room.)

A California-born show biz kid, Robin Lane has been around and seen a lot in her years. She was married to Police ("Roxanne") guitarist Andy Summers for a while, played folk music in L.A., and moved to Boston in 1976, where her musical re-awakening took place, largely due to the Sex Pistols.

"I was anti-punk at the beginning," she admits. "I hated it, but I didn't know what I was hating. I hated what I saw on TV—the safety pins and people bashing each other."

"Then, when I finally learned what it was all coming out of, and really listened, it was like a bomb went off."

Robin, a dedicated Christian (honest), saw beyond the sensationalism created by the press, and realized that Johnny Rotten & Pistols were crying out about injustices, real injustices that were taking place. Robin knew she had to get into rock. Quite a change of pace for someone whose former claim to fame was singing on Neil Young's "Everybody Knows This Is Nowhere" album. In 1978, Robin Lane & The Chartbusters were born.

As I was taking notes, Asa Brebner took my notepad and pen, writing his version of Robin's musical history. It reads like this: "She wanted to get out of the doldrums of commercial folk rock, and Leroy and I wanted to escape from low-budget punk." He also noted that "Tim played a lot of folk-rock with guys like Tom Rush, so we don't talk about it much."

The next day, I put the album back on and wondered why I hadn't really been enthralled with it before. Songs that had been so-o-o good the night before live seemed just as good now. Prognosis: it takes more than a casual listen to really enjoy the album. The lyrics stand out and the melodies swirl about seductively. It seems all the hoopla about this band is for a good reason, and with the first single—"When Things Go Wrong"—climbing the charts, it seems the masses are finding it out too.

Robin Lane & The Chartbusters perform live this Friday at Bookies Club 870. Call 862-0877 for information.

Special days will highlight State Fair

It'll be one special day after another during the 11-day run of the 1980 Michigan State Fair.

This year's State Fair officially opens its gates to the public at 10 a.m. August 22 and concludes on Labor Day, September 1. A grand opening parade along Detroit's Michigan Avenue will precede the opening day festivities.

Each day of the State Fair has been given a theme, complete with a bevy of related contests, entertainment and other activities.

On Sunday, Aug. 24, for instance, it is Clowns Day at the Fairgrounds. There will be competitions for the best clown costumes and clown acts as aspiring Emmett Kelleys vie for cash prizes and trophies. This is also one day where it pays to be a buffoon, since all Clowns Day contestants will be admitted free into the Fairgrounds before 12:30 p.m. when wearing their costumes and make-up.

Beehive hairdos, Brylcreme, bobby socks and high-heel sneakers will reign supreme during the Fair's Fabulous Fifties Day on Saturday, Aug. 23. The Fair will turn back the hands of time with a Fifties costume contest and a couple's dance competition. This day of nostalgia will be capped by a Grandstand performance by 50s favorites Freddy "Boom Boom" Cannon, Bo Diddley and The Coasters.

A line-up that includes free admission, exciting contests, free refreshments, entertainment and a free raffle is in store for Fairgoers 62 and over on Senior Citizens Day, Aug. 25. The day's events include the crowning of a Queen of Old Timers Day and the presentation of awards for Senior Citizens of the Year for Leadership and Service.

Senior Citizens Day contests will pay tribute to the oldest man and woman, baldest head, prettiest hat, longest married couple, individual with the most grandchildren, most recently married couple and golden anniversary couples.

On Queens Day, Aug. 27, the 1980 Miss Michigan State Fair Queen will be picked from a group of local beauty contest winners from around the state. Pageant prizes include a round-trip for two to Florida's Disney World. To obtain a premium book containing special days contest information and applications, write Harold Arnoldi, Director of Entertainment and Special Events, State Fairgrounds, Detroit 48203, or call (313) 368-1000.

The nation's oldest state fair, the Michigan State Fair marks its 131st anniversary this year. The Fair is administered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Admission to the State Fair is $4 for adults, with children under 12 admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Belleville youth plays lead

Kirk Nash of Belleville will play the lead role in "A Company of Wayward Saints," a comedy to be presented by Henry Ford Community College's summer theatre workshop on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The performances will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the Pagoda Room of the college's student center.

Nash is cast in the role of Harlequin, the scheming manager of a troupe of actors who are stranded far from home without any money. Kevin McGoorty of Westland will play the part of Scapino, the acrobatic trickster.

Dr. Ronald Worsley, who is conducting his fourth annual summer drama workshop at Henry Ford, will direct the play. The George Herman comedy focuses on a wealthy man's offer to finance a troupe's trip home if the actors improvise a play dealing with the history of man.

Tickets, priced at $2.50, can be purchased in advance at the Student Convenience Center on the Henry Ford campus or at the door on performance nights.

Kevin McGoorty is cast as the acrobatic trickster Scapino in "A Company of Wayward Saints," to be presented by Henry Ford Community College this weekend. The Westland youth is among a troupe of actors who are stranded far from home without money in the comedy.

DRAMA

Li'l Abner slated

Al Capp's world famous characters will come alive once again as the Wayne Summer Theatre group presents the musical comedy Li'l Abner on Aug. 8, 9 and 10 at Franklin Junior High in Wayne.

The plot, created by Norman Panama and Melvin Frank, is a mixture of nonsense and sharp, critical humor involving the supposedly unnecessary town of Dogpatch.

Tunes include Abner and Daisy's gentle duet, Namely You; a dream ballad, If I Had My Druthers; the hilarious show stopper, Jubilation T. cornpone, and the political satire, The Country's in the Very Best of Hands. Lyrics and music were composed by Johnny Mercer and Gene dePaul.

David Carrick and Gail Susan Mack are the producers of the Wayne production, which is considered an outstanding show for schools and amateur groups. Directors include: Jacquie Guernsey, Shelly Plentack, assistant drama; Elizabeth Potter, vocal;

Richard Alder, orchestra, and Kathy Tar, choreography.

Performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Aug. 8 and 9 and at 3 p.m. Aug. 10. Tickets, priced at $2.50 apiece, can be purchased at the Wayne City Hall or at the gate.

On Aug. 7 senior citizens will be admitted to the final dress rehearsal for Li'l Abner for $1.50.

Franklin Junior High is located at 33555 Annapolis.

Tour guide available at no charge

The East Michigan Tourist Association has released its new, 1980 Family Attraction Guide to the general public. The Family Attractions brochure is a condensed version of the popular 132-page Summer Travel Guide.

Thirty-six popular travel attractions are fully described. The attractions include theme parks, museums, rides, animal parks, general stores, historic shops, ferry boats, fishing ponds, gardens, shrines and canoe liveries.

The respective businesses have their location and phone numbers listed along with any distinguished travel ratings. Each attraction is numbered and pinpointed on a Michigan highway map which is part of the brochure itself.

Admission price information is also included. There are details on four bridges and their specific crossing fees. These include, the Mackinac, the Sault Ste. Marie International, the Detroit Ambassador and Port Huron's Blue Water bridges. The Windsor Tunnel rates are among the fare listings.

Free copies can be obtained by contacting the East Michigan Tourist Association, 1 Wenonah Park, Bay City 48706 or by calling 1-517-895-8823.

Fishing can be a highly competitive sport...

42 bass fishermen came from as far away as Toledo recently to compete in an open team bass tournament on Belleville Lake, sponsored by Sandy's Marina. When all the fishing and weighing was done, the winning team of Joe Kulwicki and Mike respectively). The second-place winners, Belleville fishermen Ron Bailey and Pat Howard, were unavailable for photos. Plans are underway for another bass competition in September.

Eye on Leisure

If Mother Nature would just cooperate

If Mother Nature would only cooperate, these scenes could once again be replayed at pools and beaches — home away from home for many youngsters during the summer months. When it comes to having a good time on a hot afternoon, Wayne's Attwood Pool is one place to be as witnessed by the number of youngsters enjoying the water. Although things can get a little crowded, one-year-old Nicholas Lambert (right) appreciates the wet space he's found.

Science Center offers reduced rates

Admission fees for the Detroit Science Center have been reduced to make the exhibit hall and space theatre accessible to more people during the current economic downturn, according to Roy Chapin, president of the Science Center Board of Trustees.

A rate of $1.50 is in effect through August for adults and 75 cents for children (those under six years of age). This represents a reduction from the previous rate of $2.50 and $1.

In addition, a new rate for organized groups of 25 people or more, $1 for adults and 75 cents for children, has been established.

The fee includes admission to the Space Theatre, one of only six domed theatres in the world (and the only one of the five located in the U.S. east of the Mississippi) capable of showing 70mm films.

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

We hear so much today about "slumps." Professional baseball players, at one time or another, all go through batting slumps. The economy is in its worst slump since the Greatest Depression.

But very seldom, if ever, do we hear about a fisherman's slump.

Non-fishermen may scoff at this terminology, but fishing slumps are painfully realistic. And I'm writing from experience. Right now, I'm in the midst of a practically fishless summer.

A fishing slump is even more ego-deflating if you claim to be an outdoor writer. I even hesitated, at the suggestion of my wife, when my editor said he wanted to print my picture with this column.

"But you never bring home any fish! Why would you want people to know what you look like when you can't bring any fish back to the dock?" was her reasoning. "Well," I answered, "I can always tell people that I release everything I catch."

As you may have figured by now, this is about how NOT to catch fish. How many outdoor writers would dare to admit they have trouble catching fish?

The thing that bothers me the most is I know what I'm doing wrong—but I can't help it. It's like a ballplayer knowing he's dropping his shoulder just before he swings the bat. But my problem is two-fold and, if I discuss it, perhaps I can prevent others from getting into the same rut.

The first part of my problem is this: I tend to lose my concentration if I don't find any action during the first hour or two of a fishing trip. Then, when a fish does strike, I'm not ready for it.

After I lose a few fish, I become trigger happy. That is, I start setting the hook too fast, perhaps even too hard, and actually pull the lure away from the attacking fish.

It is a frustrating situation, as any angler knows, but the one consolation is that I'm still getting strikes—which is proof that I'm at least fishing productive water. And my partner, no matter who it is, doesn't seem to have any problem connecting.

If it wasn't for these facts, I would be tempted to either attend a fishing school and brush up on my water-reading techniques or sell my fishing tackle and take up a less frustrating sport, like golf.

I know I will regain my timing and start catching fish again. But meanwhile, there are a few things I plan to do, and you're welcome to try them, too.

Although I prefer to fish for gamefish, perhaps a bout with bluegills, crappies or perch is in order, just to help re-develop my timing, you understand.

Heck, at this point, I'd even be willing to try my luck with bullheads or catfish. And even though I don't condone using it, live bait may just be my ticket back to successful fishing trips...just until I regain my confidence.

It may also be a good idea to go to a lake that I'm familiar with, one where I always managed to catch something. But then, I tried this last week, and the lake was full of weed killer and several property owners were pouring sand for beaches and had the water all churned up. Another fishless trip.

It doesn't do my morale much good to know that fish are hard to come by during the heat of the summer. My vision is less than adequate when it comes to night fishing, and swarms of mosquitoes buzzing around my flashlight have always made me nervous. And to make matters worse, I'm allergic to most brands of insect repellent.

But in fishing, as in anything else, it's important to have confidence. I still have confidence in my ability and techniques. As far as my concentration is concerned, from now on I will act as if each cast will bring that once-in-a-lifetime trophy.

And if all else fails—there's always frog-colored dynamite.

HOROSCOPE
by Aboude

ARIES March 21-April 20
The first two days of this week and the last couple are the best for any enterprise you have in mind. During the interim, relax and take obligations in order. Don't push yourself.

TAURUS April 21-May 21
Get all necessary obligations fulfilled during the first part of the week. After Wednesday or Thursday, lay low and don't pursue anything important. Relaxation over weekend is indicated.

GEMINI May 22-June 21
The entire week is fine for you and yours. Work goes smoothly, if not vacation time. If on vacation, enjoy the new interests and don't rule anything out. Try new things.

CANCER June 22-July 23
Until the later part of the week things are mostly common and somewhat dull. As weekend approaches, it picks up and you are a hit professionally and socially.

LEO July 24-August 23
Wait until the weekend before making any significant moves or announcements. It won't be easy, but it's worth it. Take the rest of the week just one day at a time.

VIRGO August 24-Sept. 23
The first few days of this week are most interesting for you. Be prepared for the unexpected, and if traveling, make sure there is more time than you first thought needed.

LIBRA Sept. 24-Oct. 23
Until Wednesday don't depend on anything. Success may show itself in a quiet manner, be sharp and aware enough to recognize it. There's reason to celebrate on weekend.

SCORPIO Oct. 24-Nov. 22
You get off on the wrong foot this week, but you can make amends if you make the effort to apologize to people whose toes were stepped on. Put things in order, it helps a lot.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 23-Dec. 21
The phrase "still waters run deep" really applies this week. One you never expected has opinions and advice that can help you out considerably. Seek out and ask, it's quite simple.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 20
Things start out quite normal this week, but you gradually enter a low cycle. Avoid any pressure situations, and don't get involved in arguments. Stay in on weekend if possible.

AQUARIUS Jan. 21-Feb. 19
Don't complain about being in the background this week while those close to you shine in the spotlight. Enjoy the attention one you care about gets, he or she deserves it. Be glad.

PISCES Feb. 20-March 20
As long as you take it easy this week you proceed all right. If you attempt to push yourself or others, you actually lose ground. Watch for health matters over weekend.

My doctor pronounced me cured of cancer.
My boss didn't.

My boss didn't understand that I was healthy again.
So I was let go.
A lot of people are like my boss. They think that everyone dies of cancer. I thought so, too. Until the American Cancer Society, through one of its service and rehabilitation programs, helped me return to a normal life.
The ACS also has local Units that help Americans who've never had cancer understand it better.
Today, more and more, cancer is a curable disease. Ignorance about cancer is curable, too.

even...then there come advantages and disadvantages...you call roll over and quit or play on...you find that disadvantages can have their strong points if you learn from them.

"People might say that chess players are eccentric—but all people are eccentric in their own way."

Wright's goal? To be a master with an international rating.

"I want to play in international tournaments," he emphasized. "That takes time and money. My wife, Judy, encourages me even though she doesn't play in competitions."

"It's like anything else," he continued. "If you spend five hours a day on a golf course, you'll become a damn good golfer. You've got to have discipline. Chess can be a lot of fun but it's not fun when you're playing and your rating is on the line."

For Wright, such is life...and chess.
